BAKER PROPOSES 10 PER CENT STATE AMUSEMENT TAX

Plan Incorporated in Proposed Amendment Designed to Raise $12,000,000 Annually for Schools

SIMILAR LEVY ON ALL TOBACCO SALES

Governor Drops Move to Divert Property Tax of Five Cents on $100 Valuation to Fund.

By the Jefferson City Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Jan. 18.—A second, luxury tax has been added to Gov. Baker's proposed constitutional amendment to provide separate sources of revenue for support of public schools and State educational institutions, in the form of a 10 per cent tax on the admission fees of theaters and other places of amusement.

The proposal already carries a tax of 10 per cent on the sale of cigars, cigarettes, and other forms of tobacco. The other tax items in the revised draft of the amendment are to the present State inheritance and foreign insurance taxes, which will be transferred from general revenue to the school support fund.

Gov. Baker held a conference in his office today with several State officials, at which the amusement tax was added to the measure, and other changes made, including abandonment of the original proposal to transfer the present direct property tax of 5 cents on the $100 assessed valuation from general revenue to the school fund. The revision also resulted in abandonment of a proposal to levy a 2 per cent severance tax on all minerals mined in Missouri.

Proposal to Committee.
The committee selected by the Governor to work out the amendment will meet here Tuesday, to pass on the revised amendment. The tax on amusements, if the amendment is adopted, would result in a levy of 10 per cent on every 10 cents or fraction thereof charged as admission to amusements. For illustration, the tax on a 10-cent admission would be one cent, on a 15-cent admission 1 1/2 cents and on a 50-cent admission 5 cents.

The Governor estimated the revised amendment carrying the amusement, tobacco, inheritance and foreign insurance taxes would produce about $12,000,000 a year for support of the schools. As originally drafted, the tobacco tax extended only to cigars and cigarettes and was to be collected from retailers. This brought forth the measure was discriminatory because it did not apply to all forms of tobacco.

In the revised draft the tobacco tax applies to all cigars, cigarettes, manufactured chewing tobacco, manufactured smoking tobacco, snuff and all other forms of manufactured tobacco. The measure provides for collection of the tax on the first sale of the tobacco within the State, which, in most instances, would involve collection of the tax from the wholesalers.

Property Tax Dropped.
Baker said the property tax was dropped because of the difficulty anticipated in explaining to voters that no increase in property tax was proposed through transfer of the property tax to the school fund. The right to increase or decrease the taxes rests with the Legislature, irrespective of the adoption of the proposed amendment. Considerable opposition had been offered to the severance tax on minerals and a fight on such a levy was feared.

Some advocates of the separate school fund have urged that it be based entirely on a direct mill tax on property without inclusion of so-called luxury taxes. Others have advocated the measure be submitted as an initiative proposal, subject to amendment by the Legislature as conditions and school needs changed. Instead of a constitutional amendment, which would make the proposal a part of the State Constitution with specific limits. Once written into the Constitution it may be changed only by voting another constitutional amendment in a State-wide election.

It is planned to submit the amendment through the initiative at the November election.

PLANES TO STUDY UPPER AIR DAILY FOR WEATHER BUREAU

Observations at Washington May Be Step Toward Reports From All Fields.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18.—Daily observations of conditions in the upper atmosphere are to be furnished the Weather Bureau by naval planes at Anacostia, D. C. The observations were begun last June on a five-day-a-week basis and have been found so valuable that hereafter they will be made on a seven-day schedule.

About 7:30 each morning a specially-equipped plane will take the air with a pilot and an aerological observer to make special notes of air conditions, such as clouds which are not recorded by the aerograph.

"Inasmuch as our weather is largely determined by the temperatures of the air above the earth and by the moisture which this great mass of upper air contains," said the announcement, "it is easy to see that observations of temperatures and humidities above the earth are of great importance to the forecaster."

"The collection of observations by airplane marks a distinct step forward in weather science. Meteorologists look ahead to the day when they will receive upper air weather reports from all important aviation fields throughout the country and will thereby be enabled to prepare much better weather forecasts than is possible at present."

THIEVES DRILL THROUGH WALLS 30 INCHES THICK FOR ALCOHOL

New York Gang Works All Night to Get Warehouse Supply Valued at $50,000.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Jan. 18.—Working leisurely through the night with electric drills and crowbars, eight robbers cut through the fortress-like walls of the Burlington Industrial Alcohol Corporation's warehouse, in Greenwich street, and escaped with alcohol valued at $50,000 early today. The alcohol, stored in drums, was taken away in automobile trucks.

The robbers did not attempt to force the heavy outer doors of the warehouse, but made their attack from an adjoining building where a watchman was overpowered and gagged. The walls of the warehouse, of brick and steel, are 30 inches thick.

The robbers stole $50,000 in cash and a number of violins and pieces of crockery from an adjoining warehouse.

FORD PLANE PLANT DESTROYED

Two All-Metal Craft Lost in $250,000 Fire.

By the Associated Press.

DETROIT, Mich., Jan. 18.—A new and larger airplane experimental laboratory will be built by Henry Ford to replace the one destroyed by fire yesterday, while the plans were not complete. It is understood that several times the loss, from $250,000 to $500,000, will be invested in the new structure.

Two stout all-metal planes, one a three-motored monoplane in its final experimental stage, were destroyed in the blaze. Fourteen new motors and thousands of dollars in machinery and tools were irreparably damaged. All plans, specifications and paper work had been deposited in the Ford engineering library and were undamaged. The cause of the fire has not been determined. Destruction of the laboratory will not affect opening of the air mail service between Detroit and Chicago and Detroit and Cleveland, set for Feb. 15.

Ritchie Speech in Senate Record.
WASHINGTON, Jan. 18.—The recent address of Gov. Ritchie of Maryland, at Chicago, was inserted in the Congressional Record today, after five unsuccessful attempts had been made in the House. Senator Bruce (Dem.) of Maryland obtained unanimous consent in the Senate for the action. Objections in the House were based on the prohibition discussion contained in the speech.

ST. LOUIS DEALER NAMED IN $25,000 FRAUD CHARGES

Joseph Broida, Triangle Clothing Co. Official, Six Oklahomans Accused of Hiding Assets.

OKLAHOMA JURY VOTES INDICTMENTS

St. Louisan Said to Have Bought Stock at Trustee's Sale and Resold It for Commission.

Two indictments charging conspiracy and acts to defraud St. Louis wholesale houses of $25,000 have been returned by a Federal grand jury at Guthrie, Ok., against six Oklahomans and one St. Louisan, Joseph Broida, 6643 Washington avenue, vice president and secretary of the Triangle Clothing Manufacturing Co., 905 Washington avenue.

Following his arrest late Saturday, Broida furnished $1500 bond for appearance at a hearing in Guthrie. He refused to discuss the charge.

Retail Merchants Accused.

The others indicted are Abram, Philip, Nathan, Ike and Clara Gerson and John R. Schneider, who operated retail clothing stores at Webb City, Shidler and Blackwell, Ok.

The first indictment charges the seven with aiding and abetting in the concealment of assets valued at $15,945.45 after Abram Gerson had purposely committed acts of bankruptcy to force St. Louis creditors to sue him in bankruptcy in January, 1925. A trustee was appointed and Abram Gerson filed a schedule of assets and liabilities. It is now charged that Abram Gerson, with the connivance of the others, concealed assets with intent to defraud creditors.

The maximum punishment upon conviction of this charge is three years' imprisonment and a $5000 fine.

Second Indictment.

The second indictment charges conspiracy to purchase merchandise, go bankrupt and defraud creditors. The maximum punishment for this offense is two years' imprisonment and a $10,000 fine.

An averment alleged in the indictment is that Abram Gerson and his brother, Ike, came to St. Louis on Sept. 1, 1924, and ordered $25,000 worth of merchandise from local wholesalers to be shipped to the store at Webb City.

On Sept. 30, it is alleged, the merchandise was transferred from the Webb City store to the one at Shidler, and on Oct. 30, to the store at Blackwell. Most of the merchandise is alleged to have been sold at low prices, the proceeds being retained by individuals, none of the money being deposited in bank and no accounts or books kept.

When the remaining merchandise was sold at a trustee's sale Feb. 24, 1925, Broida is alleged to have purchased it for $4320 and immediately to have resold it to Clara Gerson for $4320, plus a $200 commission.

FOUR PLEAD GUILTY IN OHIO BEER PLOT ENDS LONG ILLNESS BY DROWNING SELF

Officials of Cincinnati Brewery and Employees Admit Dry Law Conspiracy.

By the Associated Press.

CINCINNATI, O., Jan. 18.—George H. and Joseph Osterfeld, officers of the Mohawk Brewing Co. here, pleaded guilty in Federal Court today to an indictment growing out of the sale and distribution of 1000 barrels of alleged illegal beer in Cincinnati. They were indicted with Sheriff Richard B. Witt on charges of conspiracy to violate the prohibition law. Witt pleaded not guilty last Friday.

William Birnbryer and Michael Honold, brewery workers, also pleaded guilty.

Harry Worthman, alleged distributor of the beer, whom Sheriff Witt said to have introduced to the Osterfelds, did not appear. Bondsmen were ordered to bring him in. Those who pleaded guilty were released on bonds pending sentence.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18.—American participation in the preliminary Geneva disarmament conference was approved today by the House, which authorized an appropriation of $50,000 to defray the expenses of the United States delegation.

The vote was 359 to 1. The resolution of approval now goes to the Senate.

Representative Connery (Dem.), Massachusetts, cast the lone vote against the resolution.

ROLLER SKATES FOR POLICEMEN

Dresden, Germany, to Enable Officers to Cover More Ground.

By the Associated Press.
BERLIN, Jan. 18.—Police making the rounds of their beats on rubber-tired roller skates will soon be seen in Dresden. The first roller-skating class of 20 police begins this week, a professional skater having been employed as instructor. Even moving target practice on skates is planned, but as a precautionary measure officers must also acquire proficiency in taking off the skates.

The skate order has been issued to enable the police to cover more territory, the Versailles treaty having placed a limit on German police forces.

BORAH BALKS AT ADVISORY POWER OF WORLD COURT

Were It Not for This Relation to League of Nations He Would Not Object, Senator Says.

DOUBTS ATTITUDE WITH NEW JUDGES

Please, for Second Time, Takes Floor to Prevent Vote at Conclusion of Idahoan's Speech.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18.—Limitation of debate on the World Court was discussed today among Senators, but with little indication of an immediate move in that direction.

Senator Swanson of Virginia, leader of the Democratic court forces, said it would be developed whether the opposition intended to filibuster before any definite proposal for cloture was made. Chairman Borah of the Foreign Relations Committee, leader of the opposition, said he had little idea that there would be a move to limit debate.

Opening the debate today, Borah declared that, through its rendering of advisory opinions at the request of the League of Nations, the court was "definitely and distinctly associated with a political institution, which has control over the court."

Advisory Opinions.
If the jurisdiction of the court was limited to arbitral and judicial powers, he said, "I would not detain the Senate a moment on this question."

Calling attention to a dispute between Finland and Russia, Senator Borah said the League Council ruled that the court could render an advisory opinion even though Russia was not a member of the League, and would not be represented before the court. The court itself held by a 6 to 4 vote that it had no power to give an advisory opinion.

"Only the views of two men stand between us and court procedure of this kind," said Borah. Citing the Eastern Cordoba case, Borah said it gave ample evidence of what might happen in a case affecting the United States, should this country join the court. In that case the League Council ruled that the court could render an advisory opinion, which was declined by the court by a vote of eight to four on the ground that it had no right to give such decisions. The League Council then passed a resolution asserting that the court only had the right to give advisory opinions, but should do so even though the parties to the dispute were not represented before the court, and even if they opposed the court ruling.

Judges Will Change, He Says.

America would be protected against such a policy for the present, Borah said, by the fact that a majority of the judges sitting on the court do not believe as the League Council does.

"But we are not going into the World Court for a week or a month," he continued. "What effect would the action of the court in opposing a ruling of the League Council have upon the next election of judges, who are to be selected by this very body? Will not the council naturally select judges whose views coincide with the views of its members?"

"We should bear in mind that the League Council is controlled by the great powers of Europe. We are taking a subordinate position in a matter that may become of first importance to the United States. If immigration or some other such question should come up, the United States should be consulted and should have something to say about what consideration is given it."

Declaring there had been no filibuster on the court issue, Borah assured the Senate that he did not propose to participate in one.

"When it comes to fixing a date for a vote," he added, "I don't want to cramp anyone."

After Borah concluded his statement from both sides of the "vote" from both sides of the chamber and the reading of the protocol, which is preliminary to a vote, was ordered. Then for a second time Senator Blea (Dem.), South Carolina, threw himself into the breach, gaining the floor for a third speech on the subject.

Feb. 10 was suggested today by Borah as a date for a vote on the World Court issue. This is too far distant to suit most of those favoring the court.

GERARD DISCLOSES WHAT HE DID NOT TELL IN MEMOIRS

Former Ambassador Writes Letter in Reply to Berlin Paper's Inquiry.

By the Associated Press.

BERLIN, Jan. 18.—James W. Gerard, who was United States Ambassador at Berlin during the early years of the World War, has written a letter to the editor of the Deutsche Allgemeine Zeitung, replying to the question: "What have you omitted in your memoirs?"

"With President von Hindenburg's permission," writes Gerard, "I would be prepared to dedicate a peace cup as a prize for next spring's Von Hindenburg race at Berlin, which I should like to attend myself."

"I did not mention a conversation between the ex-Kaiser, Col. House and myself at Potsdam in 1914 when the ex-Kaiser said he aspired to an alliance of the four civilized nations—Germany, Great Britain, France and America."

"I also omitted an interesting conversation with the ex-Kaiser on his yacht at Kiel the night before the Sarajevo assassination."

"Last I be misunderstood, I reiterate that had Germany adhered to Von Bethmann-Hollweg's and Von Jagow's policy, America would not have felt obliged to enter the war as the deciding factor."

"I also did not mention that annexation of part of Silesia was a mistake and an injustice."

ANDREWS TELLS DRY CHIEFS TO NAB BOOTLEG DRUGGISTS

Orders Revocation of Permits for All Who Handle Diluted Whisky.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18.—Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Andrews has ordered his prohibition administrators to watch more closely for bootleg druggists. In a letter to the administrators, he said they should not hesitate to revoke a druggist's permit if he was handling any whisky not bottled in bond.

The administrators are responsible for making tests of drug store whisky. Andrews sees no reason why a druggist should be allowed to dilute whisky and thus make exorbitant profits.

CHICAGO, Jan. 18.—E. C. Yellowley, Prohibition administrator, today announced the revocation of 19 liquor permits held by physicians, druggists and commercial alcohol users throughout the district.

Coolidge Declines 20 Invitations.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18.—President Coolidge apparently intends to confine his speaking to Washington for the next few months. COOLIDGE MOVED TO RETAIN MARVIN IN TARIFF JOB AS FAVOR TO BUTLER

Ultra-Protectionist as Chairman May Strengthen President's Friend in Senate Race.

EXECUTIVE WANTED TO NAME MODERATE

But This Would Not Have Averted Congressional Inquiry Anyway—Fireworks Looked For.

By DAVID LAWRENCE.
A Special Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.
(Copyright, 1926.)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18.—In designating Thomas Marvin (Rep.) as chairman of the Tariff Commission for another year, President Coolidge yielded to the appeal of Senator William M. Butler of Massachusetts, his pre-convention and campaign manager last year.

The President had about made up his mind to let the vice chairman of the commission, Alfred Dennis (Dem.), his personal friend, become chairman. The move was favored as a means of appealing the sentiment in Congress which is threatening a re-opening of the whole tariff question. Mr. Coolidge also wanted people to know by the change that he was a moderate and not a high protectionist. Marvin is an avowed ultra-protectionist. He is said to have never voted to reduce the tariff on anything.

The argument presented to the President by virtually all the Republican members of the New England delegation was that Marvin's retention was necessary for the good of the party.

Rift in Massachusetts.

Mr. Coolidge was told also that unless he reappointed Marvin he would jeopardize the chances of Senator Butler for re-election in Massachusetts. Butler may have as his opponent former Senator David Walsh and it looks as if the rift is going to be close enough anyhow without having a rift in the Republican ranks. Butler's friends insisted that if Marvin was not designated as chairman, his theory, based by the opposition as proof that Butler did not have much influence with the Chief Executive and that Massachusetts could not count on a high protectionist policy.

The President was torn between conflicting desires, but came to the conclusion that all things considered he had to reappoint Marvin, especially as the attack made by Senator Norris (Rep.) of Nebraska, makes certain a Congressional investigation. He might have postponed the selection of a new chairman, allowing the acting chairman to remain in charge.

General Bombardment.

The drive on the President's connection with Tariff Commission appointments is, however, part of a general bombardment all along the line against him for having endeavored to influence the policies of the country's various independent commissions by understanding in advance with prospective appointees.

There is no denial that the President asked for the resignation of Commissioner Haney (Dem.) of the Shipping Board, because he did not keep an understanding on policy which Mr. Coolidge said he had with Haney. Now Senator Norris has disclosed an exchange of letters between W. S. Culbertson, now of the diplomatic service, but formerly a member of the Tariff Commission, whereby the latter undertook to pledge David J. Lewis (Dem.) to agree in advance when accepting the appointment to resign at the President's convenience.

Some fireworks may be expected in the congressional investigation, inasmuch as E. P. Costigan of Colorado, Western Republican insurgent, is planning to furnish "Joris" and the committee with all the records and information concerning executive proceedings in the Paris commission.

Confirmatory Evidence.
This evidence is supposed to be confirmatory of charges that certain manufacturing and producing interests controlled the acts of the commission through political and other channels.

It probably will disclose also

'JELLYROLL' HOGAN FINED
$100 IN ELECTION CASE

Charge Grew Out of Disturbance at Pools in Luxembourg in August, 1924.

"Jellyroll" Hogan, gang leader, pleaded guilty before Circuit Judge Wurdeman at Clayton today of a breach of the peace in the primary election, Aug. 5, 1924, for which he was indicted more than a year ago, and was fined $100. He paid the fine and $150 in costs, without any comment.

"I hate to pay these witnesses for getting me in trouble," he told reporters afterwards, referring to the fees for about a dozen witnesses who had appeared before the grand jury and in court a number of times. The costs cover these fees. There had been several continuances of the case for a variety of reasons.

The charge grew out of a disturbance at Luxembourg precinct, near Hogan's South Broadway saloon. Daniel Finnegan, an ex-convict and associate of Hogan, went there to vote and was denied the privilege. Hogan came to his support and a row followed. Finnegan was indicted, too, but the charge against him was dismissed for want of prosecution.

By the Associated Press.
EDMONTON, Alberta, Jan. 18.—In the summer of 1923, J. C. Nichol and L. Beaman entered into a partnership for prospecting and trapping. They took with them supplies sufficient for two years and went up the Gravelly River, a recognized route to the Yukon territory. It was supposed they had crossed the mountains and would arrive at some of the trading posts of the Yukon side. But they never appeared.

Herbert Hodgson, a trapper, proceeding over the country to cut out a trap line in November came to a cabin, the previous existence of which he was not aware of, and found the body of a man kneeling on the floor, with his head resting on his arms. It was Nichol.

SAYS OF SENATE RACE

Mayor's Only Comment on Statement of Demand That He Run.

Mayor Miller characterizes as "political talk" the statement of Conway Elder, former Supreme Court Judge, that the Mayor "is under serious consideration" as a candidate for the Republican Senatorial nomination, against Senator Williams.

When a statement prepared by Elder was shown to the Mayor, he read it with apparent interest, smiled broadly, and remarked: "Political talk."

To this unquestionably true statement, when pressed further, the Mayor added: "Penalty of being in politics. Can't keep 'em from talking." Then he shrugged his shoulders and took his leave. Judge Elder said "any influential men from various sections of the State" were demanding that Miller should enter the primary contest. He mentioned, as sources of this demand, Kansas City, Southeast Missouri, the Ozark section, and Joplin, Miller's home town.

He said Miller was "unfraid to state his position on any political question," but did not say where the Mayor would stand on international issues, such as the World Court question, now confronting Senator Williams.

Reference to Vote-Getting.
After mentioning the vote-getting record of Miller in his campaigns for Governor and for Mayor, Elder said:

"His policies thus far inaugurated as Mayor have carried a conviction to the people that he is honestly endeavoring to advance the interests of St. Louis and is carrying out the mandate of the people. In the short time he has been in office he has demonstrated his ability to deal intelligently and courageously with big problems."

"The demand for the Mayor's entrance into the coming senatorial campaign has been so strong and the sentiment from the various parts of the State has been growing so steadily that I have taken up with the Mayor the advisability of his entering the campaign, and at this time his candidacy is under serious consideration."

"The program upon which he has embarked as Mayor is such an extensive one, and the results of such a program are so important to the people of St. Louis that his friends have counseled him to remain as Mayor until his policies are well under way towards completion. They have further counseled that he file only for the long term for the Senate, which would leave him in office, barring an extra session of Congress, until practically three-fourths of his term as Mayor had been served."

Mayor Less Than Year.
Miller was inaugurated as Mayor April 21 last. The Senator elected for the long term will begin his senatorial duties in December, 1927, unless an extra session is called, in which case he might have to serve at any time after March 4, 1927.

No Republican opponent to Senator Williams has made a positive announcement of candidacy. Forrest C. Bennett, last Aug. 17 which resulted in the death of one person and injury of 48, was caused by a mistake of the engineer, an inspector reported today to the Interstate Commerce Commission.

"This accident," the report says, "was caused by the failure of Engineerman Briscoe of light engine No. 2848 to stop at Hannibal office and obtain the necessary authority for occupying the main track north of that point."

MAN STEALS ANOTHER'S WIFE AND AUTO, RETURNS BOTH

Bement, Ill., Garage Owner Draws Revolver on Husband and Drives Car Away.

By the Associated Press.
BEMENT, Ill., Jan. 18.—Carl Hanley, a local garage owner, who last night forced John Cutright to steal his touring car and Mrs. Cutright and left town, returned this morning. They drove into Hanley's garage and Hanley at once disappeared.

Hanley, who is 24 years old, with Cutright and his wife, had been in Tolono in the afternoon. When they returned Sunday night both men got out of the automobile to open the garage doors. Hanley drew a revolver, forced Cutright away from the automobile and Mrs. Cutright to stay in the automobile and drove away.

34 PERSONS INJURED IN CRASH OF ELEVATED TRAINS

Twenty Taken to Hospital After Collision on Brooklyn-Manhattan Line in Fog.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Jan. 18.—Thirty-four persons were injured today in a collision between two Brooklyn-Manhattan trains on the Williamsburg Bridge in a heavy fog. Twenty were removed to hospitals.

Both were elevated trains. An eight-car steel train was stalled at the center of the bridge when a train of wooden reinforced cars crashed into the rear of it.

The first car of the wooden train was ripped apart and the second car was telescoped into the first. All of the injured were on this train.

John Simmer, motorman of the wooden car train, was arrested charged with felonious assault and later removed to Bellevue Hospital.

A. Moffitt, cashier of the First National Bank of Waverly, died at the Herrin Hospital last night from an infection in his wound. Dennis was representing a washing machine company in this city when the attempt to arrest him was made.

WOMAN HELD FOR HUSBAND'S MURDER WAS WED 7TH TIME

Brother Tells of Ohio Man Who Died Two Years Ago; Only One Spouse Living.

By the Associated Press.
EAST LIVERPOOL, O., Jan. 18.—Another touch of mystery was added today to the 30-year matrimonial career of Mrs. Laura Christy, 48 years old, held in the county jail at Lisbon, charged with the first-degree murder of the Rev. William Christy, her husband of nine days.

Charles Whippler, brother of Mrs. Christy, told officers she had married a Steubenville, O. man, who died two years ago, making a total of seven spouses six of whom, police say, are dead.

Hugh McDermott, Chief of Police, says Mrs. Christy admitted to him she administered poison to her most recent husband, who died last Wednesday when he "asked for it," while suffering from indigestion.

Whippler, who was unable to give police any clew as to the cause of the death of his six brothers-in-law, said neither he nor his father, Jacob Whippler of Hammond, Ind., would retain an attorney for Mrs. Christy. Frederick Harmon of Athens, N. Y., is the only living former husband of the woman.

INQUEST IN PLACE OF WEDDING TODAY

Young Woman Tells What She Knew of Killing by Admirer of Intended Husband.

This was to have been Anna Gardner's wedding day, but instead she was in the coroner's office to testify in a murder and a suicide, to tell what little she knew of Felix Avando, who was to have been her husband, and Sam Dandra, who killed Avando and himself when he heard the news.

A perfunctory inquest because there was nothing much to be proved so far as the law was concerned; just the formality of verifying police reports and recording verdict. Sam Dandra had hid behind a truck at Broadway and Spruce streets Saturday night. When Avando passed he fired three shots at his former friend and partner. Then he ran a block, fired a shot into his own heart and died. Avando lingered until morning.

Testimony of Young Woman.
Miss Gardner, who is 24 years old, met the two men a year ago. They were partners in a saloon at 617 Spruce street and she occupied a room upstairs. She kept company with Dandra until early December, when they quarreled. "I told him to quit coming around," she said. Avando took his partner's place and Dandra, enraged at the turn of events, sold his interest in the saloon and moved out.

"Sam Dandra came to my room Saturday afternoon," Miss Gardner related. "He pushed right in and was very mad."

"Is it so, that you're going to marry him?" he asked.

"Yes, we're going to get a license tomorrow afternoon."

"Well, if you do I'll kill you. I got a gun to do it with. See?" He showed her the revolver, and she pushed him from the room.

Heard Men Quarreling.
At 10:45 p. m. she slipped out to buy some lunch. Avando and Dandra were quarreling in front of the saloon, speaking vehemently in Italian she could not understand, and she passed them in the shadow. "She was eating in the corner restaurant when she heard shots. When she turned what had happened, she accosted one of the policemen and told him her interest in the affair."

After a night at Central District station, a kindly Sergeant led her over to the inquest room. She wore a faded black and gold hat, and an imitation chinchilla coat. With a frightened expression, she sat stiffly while Coroner Vitt read the long report and questioned the policemen about the spelling of names and such things.

"Do you know any more about it?" the Coroner asked her. She shook her head. "Well, it looks like a plain case," said the Coroner. "That will be all."

Bank Janitor Falls Dead.
Linus J. Lucke, 58 years old, janitor at the First National Bank, Broadway and Locust street, collapsed at 2 a. m. today while working on the sidewalk on the Broadway side. He was taken to City Hospital, where he was pronounced dead. His wife was unable to explain his death, saying he had been in the best of health. He lived at 3614 North Fourteenth street.

IS BET ON RACES

Methodist Board Declares Its Estimate of Annual Outlay Is Conservative.

Post-Dispatch Bureau, 20-23 Wyatt Building.
WASHINGTON, Jan. 18. — The Postoffice Department is barring from the mails tips on horse races. For this action it is commended by the Board of Temperance, Prohibition and Public Morals of the Methodist Episcopal Church, which is waging a campaign against race-track and all other forms of gambling.

"These tip sheets are not only worthless, but constitute a direct incitement to gambling and react unfavorably upon the social safety," says a statement issued by Clarence True Wilson and Deets Pickett of the Methodist board. "In 1913 there were only 18 tracks in operation for flat racing in North America. About 45 tracks are now in use in the United States, and five new tracks are being built. It is a conservative estimate that $400,000,000 annually is being bet on races. Handbooks number hundreds in single cities, and their operations directly result in defalcations, embezzlements, suicides and broken homes."

Detective Hired.
The reformers have employed the Rev. H. N. Pringle, who has been engaged in detective work for several years, to gather data on gambling. Pringle, the Methodist board says, has "compiled a list of hundreds of highway robberies, desertions, divorces, embezzlements, forgeries, larcenies and murders, indisputably attributable to race-track betting."

"In the city of New York alone the tip sheets are sold at 12,000 news stands. In Washington the posted race reports are studied by throngs of young men. One advertisement of a tipster reads: 'Parlay all you can beg, borrow or steal on these two winners.' Their worthless advice is sold at prices ranging from 50 cents to $10, and at least one brings a price of $25." It was announced by Wilson and Pickett that business interests in Cleveland and other cities were aroused and would take action against bookmakers to protect their banks and the savings deposits of individuals. It is suggested that legislation to bar from the mails all race gambling orders and information be enacted.

Fallen Several Years Ago.
A bill to that end was introduced several years ago, but was defeated by the opposition of newspapers. Another attempt will be made to pass it.

Other reformers have reintroduced the Sunday blue law bill for the District of Columbia and communities controlled by the Federal Government. This is being pressed in the House.

CARLETON AND FERGUSON

CASES CONTINUED TO MARCH

Circuit Attorney Moves Action, Saying He Desires to Try Carleton, Who Is Still Ill, First.
The cases of Murray Carleton and Forrest Ferguson, indicted on charges of feloniously making a false statement in writing to obtain credit for the Ferguson-McKinney Dry Goods Co., before the $3,000,000 failure last October, were continued in Judge Mix's court today to March 22.

The Circuit Attorney moved the continuance, stating that it was his wish to try Carleton first, and that Carleton, at present, cannot be placed on trial, being still a patient in St. Luke's Hospital, where he has been since last fall, suffering from cancer.

Ferguson also is under indictment on a charge of embezzlement $188,000 from the company.

Teachers Save 40 Children in Fire.
By the Associated Press.
SEATTLE, Wash., Jan. 18.—Mrs. Violet Norton, 16 years old, and Miss Jeannette Whipple, 18, Sunday school teachers, saved 40 children here yesterday, when a fire started in a church, where a Sunday school class was in session. The teachers formed the children into two lines and marched them through the smoke and flames to safety. The fire, which started from an overheated furnace, was extinguished after it had caused slight damage.

MESSAGE BY RADIO RESULTS IN CONFESSION OF MURDER

By Radio to the Post-Dispatch and the Daily News, Copyright 1926.
STOCKHOLM, Jan. 18.—Murder trial evidence, which arrived by wireless Saturday morning, resulted in a confession in the most sensational murder case known in Stockholm in years.
Last September the body of a taxicab driver named Svensson was found beside his car at Naca, a suburb of Stockholm. He had been shot through the head. Two Finns, Bruno Poukka and Vahase Villander, who had criminal antecedents, were arrested charged with the murder. They maintained their innocence.
Their trial before the District Court Saturday, seemed likely to fail, owing to lack of evidence, when prosecuting counsel produced a wireless message from the Swedish Consul-General in New York, saying that Asta Salmed, Poukka's sweetheart, who had left Sweden for America after the murder, had admitted that Poukka confessed to her that he had murdered Svensson.
"It's all a lie," Poukka murmured, whereupon the Judge reminded him that he could have his sweetheart brought back to Stockholm in 10 days. Poukka confessed in the afternoon. He, Svensson and Villander were engaged in liquor smuggling. They bought 10 barrels of moonshine and Svensson was entrusted with selling the liquor. Svensson claimed four barrels were lost. The others accused Svensson of stealing the barrels. All had been drinking and Poukka shot Svensson.

FUGITIVE ILLINOIS

SUSPECT ARRESTED

"Oklahoma Blackie," Alleged Mail Robber, Held for Wisconsin Holdup.

James Marsh, alias Oklahoma Blackie, who is under indictment for alleged participation in a mail robbery Oct. 10, 1924, at Sandoval, Ill., near Centralia, has been arrested at Prairie Du Chien, Wis., on suspicion of being one of four men who robbed a postoffice there of $14,000 last September. He was arrested once before, at La Crosse, Wis., last October, for the Prairie Du Chien robbery, but escaped.

A few years ago when a band of robbers led by "Dressed Up Jimmy" Overstreet robbed a dozen banks in Venice, Madison, Granite City and other Illinois towns close to St. Louis, Marsh was an associate of Overstreet, according to the latter, who now is serving 25 years in the McAllister, Ok., penitentiary for a bank robbery in Oklahoma. "Four men held up the Baltimore & Ohio station agent at Sandoval and escaped with $37 and some registered mail. Marsh was arrested and indicted for participation in this robbery, but escaped from the Benton, Ill., jail. He also is said to have escaped from the McAllister, Ok., prison.

KAHN THINKS BROADWAY RULE IS WASTING AMERICAN TALENT

Says Community Repertory Theaters Throughout Country Would Remedy the Situation.

By the Associated Press. NEW YORK, Jan. 18. — Community repertory theaters throughout the country, emancipated from Broadway and developing local artistic talent, should successfully challenge the movie for public patronage, Otto H. Kahn says in a letter to the New York Drama League.

"It is incongruous, unfair and undesirable," he writes, and "it is detrimental to the best interests of the stage, the American dramatic talent (which term includes playwrights and producers as well as actors) in order to demonstrate itself adequately, should be compelled to squeeze itself through that narrow neck of the bottle—Broadway."

"Far too much of America's artistic talent goes to waste for lack of opportunity, and the development of this ability should be one purpose of the community theater."

WHOLESALE PRICES LOWER

December Figures Also Show Gain in Industrial Production.

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, Jan. 18. — The general level of wholesale prices declined in December while industrial production as a whole was on the upgrade. The Labor Department's index of wholesale prices, based on fluctuations in 404 commodities with the 1913 level considered as 100, stood at 156.2 last month, compared with 157.7 in November and 157.0 in December, 1924. The recession was attributed chiefly to declines in the prices of most food items and farm products such as corn, cattle, hides, eggs and wool.

The industrial production figures made public last night by the Commerce Department, showed that in December, as compared with November, there were increases in copper, zinc and pine lumber output, cotton consumption, refinery melting of sugar, corn grinding and the placing of concrete paving contracts and orders for steel products. Declines were recorded in stock sales and in the letting of building contracts. In virtually every line, however, the December situation showed more activity than during December, 1924.

Soviet Offers Chaplin a Film Role.

By the Associated Press. Leningrad, Jan. 18. — The Soviet state's motion picture monopoly has invited Charlie Chaplin to take part in a film based on Nikolai Gogol's satire on Russian life, called "The Overcoat." Picture experts are of the opinion that this vehicle would give Chaplin an opportunity to distinguish himself as much by his overcoat as he did by his trousers and shoes.

Tonsillitis

is a dangerous condition—it demands continuous antiseptic treatment. A gargle, spray or swab night and morning is not enough.

Carry a bottle of Formamint with you, and at intervals all day, slip one of the pleasant-tasting tablets into your mouth.

PEACE BUREAU TO STUDY SOVIET ACTIVITY IN EGYPT

Dr. H. S. Pritchett Sent to Near East to Investigate Reports of Agitation Among Moslems.

NEW YORK, Jan. 18.—The Carnegie Endowment for International Peace has sent Dr. Henry S. Pritchett to Egypt and the Near East to determine the accuracy of reports that representatives of Soviet Russia are co-operating with Mohammedan leaders in arousing national and international discord.

The announcement was made yesterday by Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, president of the endowment, in outlining new plans for the work of the endowment in the immediate future. Dr. Pritchett, who is a trustee of the endowment, sailed Saturday on the Lapland.

In addition to inquiring into the accuracy of reports of Soviet activity in Mohammedan countries, he also will make a study of contemporary educational, social and political movements in that region, and their possible effect upon the peace of the world. He will then advise the trustees of the Carnegie Endowment as to possible policies that might be adopted to improve conditions.

Dr. Butler also announced that Alfred Holman of San Francisco, a trustee of the endowment, would sail for South America on Jan. 20 to confer with leaders on that continent as to how the endowment may be helpful in promoting international peace through settlement of international differences by judicial methods. Holman will spend three or four months obtaining the views of South American leaders and in explaining to them the aims of the Carnegie Endowment.

TRAILS POSTER GIRL TO U. S. FROM ROME, LANDS IN LOCKUP

She Finally Agrees to Meet Admirer, but Brings Police With Her.

NEW YORK, Jan. 18.—Nathaniel Raymond stood before Magistrate McKinstry yesterday, and related that love had overwhelmed him in Rome two and a half years ago when he gazed upon an Italian Red Cross poster bearing the portrait of a young woman. From the artist he learned that the subject of the poster was a French girl who had left Italy for the United States. Raymond followed her. Here his search seemed to have failed until he saw a likeness of the same young woman in a window of a Fifth Avenue photographer. He obtained her name, address and telephone number. He telephoned to her, suddenly and often.

The girl over the telephone finally agreed to meet him in the subway station Saturday night. He found her waiting with detectives. The poster girl, it developed, was married and has a daughter 11 years old. She lives with her husband and daughter in the Bronx.

The magistrate held Raymond without bail on a charge of disorderly conduct.

THAW CONTINUES IN PARIS

Cold Still Intense in Alps and Pyrenees, However.

PARIS, Jan. 18.—The thaw continues, much to the relief of the authorities of the city, who for the last three days have been spending more than 100,000 francs daily for salt to melt the snow.

Although the temperature has risen in Paris, the cold is still intense in the mountain regions, notably in the Alps and the eastern Pyrenees, where many villages are cut off by snowdrifts which vary from six to ten feet in depth. Heavy winds again are blowing on both the Channel and Atlantic seaboard.

CRIPPLING PAIN AMAZINGLY VANISHES

Astonishingly quick and complete is the relief that people feel from rheumatic pain just as soon as they use this simple treatment.

"I was suffering with rheumatism and under the care of a doctor," writes H. B. Smith of 126 McAllister St., San Francisco, Calif. "Fortunately I heard of Sloan's Liniment and after using it for three or four days was fit and well."

How does Sloan's get these astonishing results? Because it does not just deaden the pain; it gets at the cause.

Right to the aching spot it sends a healing tide of fresh, germ-destroying blood. No need to rub. The medicine itself does the work.

At once you feel a warm glow of comfort—then relief. The swelling, stiffness and inflammation go down. The pain stops. Get a bottle today. All druggists—35 cents.

EQUAL RIGHTS APPEAL TAKEN TO WHITE HOUSE

Leaders of Woman's Party Forced to Leave Petition With Executive Guard.

Post-Dispatch Bureau.
29-33 Wyatt Building.
WASHINGTON, Jan. 18.—Miss Alice Paul, Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont and many other members of the National Woman's party unfurled their old banners—the ones used in the woman suffrage campaign during the Wilson administration—and marched to the White House yesterday to demand another amendment to the Constitution, providing that "men and women shall have equal rights throughout the United States and every place subject to its jurisdiction." Resolutions for the submission of the proposed amendment have been introduced by Senator Curtis and Representative Anthony of Kansas.

Upon their arrival at the front door of the executive offices, Miss Paul and her army of militant women found Sgt. Ernest Seaman in charge. The President was at the White House proper, Sgt. Seaman accepted the petition, with the understanding that he would put it on the President's desk.

Opposed by Voters' League. Then the delegation asked permission to have its picture taken on the steps of the executive offices. This, Sgt. Seaman explained, was against the rules, since no pictures are allowed on Sunday. So the delegation moved into West Executive avenue, between the White House and the War, State and Navy Building and posed for the camera men.

The crowd at the White House was estimated at about 100. It was advertised that 300 working women would be there. From the White House the representatives of the National Woman's party went to the Belasco Theater, where they took part in a mass meeting. The movement formally launched here by Miss Paul and Mrs. Belmont is opposed by the National League of Women Voters and other powerful groups of women. It would abolish all protective or welfare acts passed for the benefit of women.

"Equal Rights" Slogan. Speakers at the meeting in the afternoon "challenged the whole theory of protective legislation and welfare laws of women, and demanded equal rights."

"We do not want special laws for women," was the slogan. The mass meeting was the first of the kind held by the National Woman's party since the nineteenth amendment was ratified. Others will follow. A determined campaign to get the President to endorse the proposition will be made upon the White House. There was no intimidation or violence in the line, but deputations after deputations will be sent to request action.

RETAIL HARDWARE DEALERS
OPEN ANNUAL CONVENTION
Several Hundred Delegates From Missouri and Southern Illinois Meet at Hotel Statler.

The Missouri Retail Hardware Dealers' Association assembled in annual convention at Hotel Statler today, with several hundred dealers in attendance, including a number of merchants from Southern Illinois.

In conjunction with the convention, which will continue for three days, is a trade exposition, the exhibits of heavy and shelf hardware consuming space of the entire sixteenth floor. The business sessions will be devoted to trade talks and a daily question box.

Many of the dealers are accompanied here by wives and daughters and a special program of entertainment has been provided for them by the Women's Auxiliary of the St. Louis Retail Hardware Association. This includes a shopping tour, a visit to the new Union Market and a reception and dance at Hotel Statler this evening.

NEGRO IDENTIFIED AS ROBBER

Girl, 16, Says Prisoner Is Man Who Took Her Purse.
Miss Josephine Berra, 16 years old, of 1923 Macklind avenue, who was robbed of her purse last Wednesday by a Negro who dragged her into a vacant lot and threatened her with a knife, last night identified a prisoner as the man. She said she was walking over Macklind avenue toward her home when the Negro seized her.

LEMON CLEANS HAIR AS NOTHING ELSE CAN

Whether your hair is bobbed or long, next time you wash it with the juice of two California lemons in an ordinary washbowl full of water followed by a plain water rinse—and note the difference in the hair—how clean it feels—how much prettier it looks.

The lemon cuts a soap curd that a shampoo always leaves and ordinary rinsing, even if repeated, with plain water doesn't take it out. It answers only to the mild acid of the California lemon.

Get a dozen California lemons now and keep them handy for this purpose as well as for the score of other lemon uses in the kitchen. California lemons, practically seedless and heavy with effective juice, are the best for the rinse. All stores sell them year round.

arm, pointed a knife at her throat and pulled her to the lot. While he examined her purse which contained a dollar in change, she broke away and ran. Since the episode, Miss Berra has been seriously ill at her home from nervous shock. Yesterday police found the Negro asleep in the washroom of a clay products company on Manchester avenue. He denied the charge.

FOR Sour Stomach PHILLIPS' Milk of Magnesia

Hereafter instead of soda take a little "Phillips' Milk of Magnesia" in water any time for indigestion or sour, acid, gassy stomach, and relief will come instantly.

BETTER THAN SODA

For fifty years genuine "Phillips' Milk of Magnesia" has been prescribed by physicians because it overcomes three times as much acid in the stomach as a saturated solution of bicarbonate of soda, leaving the stomach sweet and free from all gases. Besides, it neutralizes all fermentations in the bowels and gently urges this soiling waste from the system without purging. It is far more pleasant to take than soda.

The Maytag washes heavy Blankets fluffily Clean

For homes without electricity, the Maytag is available with in-built gasoline motor

THE MAYTAG washes heavy blankets fluffily clean. Takes all dirt out thoroughly. Leaves them soft and downy—sleep-inviting—rest-assuring.

Washes all heavy, bulky pieces—even grass-encrusted, dirt-grimed overalls. Washes them cleaner—quicker—easier—better than they can be washed in any other way.

Washes all the light, fluffy, delicate things—the things you think must be hand-washed—even more gently than by hand.

Washes everything—without hand-rubbing—even collars, cuffs, wristbands, neckbands.

Turbulent water in every part of the tub—thoroughly soap-impregnated to the last drop—constantly forcing through the meshes of the clothes—is the MAYTAG's better—different method of washing—the Gyrofoam Principle—found only in the Maytag.

Prove all these things in your own home. Any MAYTAG dealer will bring the washer to you. No obligation—no expense. Do a week's washing—wash everything.

60 HOUSE MEMBERS FOR DRY LAW CHANGES

Congressmen Newton and Dyer of St. Louis Sign as Supporters of Movement.

Post-Dispatch Bureau, 20-22 Wyatt Building, WASHINGTON, Jan. 18.—Representatives Cleveland A. Newton and L. C. Dyer of St. Louis were signatories to a letter sent today to all members of the House by Representative John Philip Hill of Maryland soliciting memberships in the unofficial house committee on modification of the Volstead act. Sixty members of the House, including Mrs. Florence P. Kahn of California and Mrs. Mary T. Norton of New Jersey, signed the invitation. Mrs. Edith Neourse Rogers of Massachusetts, the third woman member, did not sign.

Declaring that "modification of the Volstead act is inevitable," the letter stated that the only question is what form such modification shall take and when such modification will be made.

"If you are in favor of any form of modification of the Volstead act we invite you to take part in the work of the committee," the letter said. "We have not agreed upon any form of legislation, but propose to hold public hearings and consider all suggestions for proper liberalization of the act before agreeing on a bill for modification."

The letter quoted the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America research bulletin, published last summer, which declared that "drinking by young people as compared with prohibition times is more" and that "the attitude toward law enforcement and respect for laws in general is worse" under the Volstead act.

"The Antisocial League having since the passage of the Volstead act insistently and incessantly demanded strict enforcement, the only alternative in view of the above conditions is modification," the letter said.

Last session 59 members of this unofficial committee introduced identical bills legalizing the sale of beer containing more than 2.5 per cent alcohol. The letter quoted Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Andrews, in charge of prohibition enforcement, as announcing that home-made wines could be made legally of any alcoholic strength as long as they were not actually "intoxicating in fact."

Serum Said to Make Hens Lay.

By the Associated Press. CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Jan. 18.—A poultry dealer has found that his hens will lay more eggs if fed with a by-product of the new artificial egg whites developed from serum in the biological laboratory of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. Not only that, but he reduced the death rate in his flock by 15 per cent. That is but one of the many developments which persons engaged in various industries think will result from the new product, it was stated today by Prof. W. M. Bunker, who produced it.

The proper care of your teeth and gumsWashing is not enough

MANY people brush their teeth regularly—but still are troubled with decay and gum diseases. One reason for this is illustrated at the left. Your tooth-brush cannot reach and clean all the crevices between the teeth and at the Danger Line.

Tiny food particles get in these crevices and ferment; acids are formed that cause serious decay and weakening of the gums. Ordinary dentifrices that simply wash or polish the teeth afford very little protection in these places.

That is why millions of people are turning to Squibb's Dental Cream, made with Squibb's Milk of Magnesia—as the dentifrice that really protects the teeth everywhere. Milk of Magnesia, you know, positively prevents acids from harming the teeth or gums. When you brush your teeth with Squibb's, tiny particles of Squibb's Milk of Magnesia get into all of these remote pits and crevices, where they remain for hours, thoroughly neutralizing acids and protecting the teeth and gums.

Of course, Squibb's Dental Cream also cleans and polishes the surfaces of the teeth beautifully. It is pleasantly flavored—refreshing and safe for young and old alike. Use it regularly for complete protection. 40 cents a tube. At druggists.

TWO FIREMEN INJURED
WHEN ENGINE UPSETS

Machine Skids—Charles Roth and Charles Druecker Rescued From Wreck.

Two firemen were seriously injured when a tractor-drawn engine on which they were riding in response to a fire alarm, overturned on a wet pavement on Broadway, near Lombard street, at 5 p. m. yesterday.

Charles Roth, 34 years old, of 8222 A Virginia avenue, the driver, attempted to steer the tractor from the center to the side of the street, when it skidded, crashed against a telegraph pole and overturned. Patrolman English, who was clearing the street of traffic at the point, and passersby extricated Roth and his companion fireman, Charles Druecker, 40, 4594 Ray avenue. At City Hospital, Druecker was found to have suffered a fractured skull and fractured right leg, and Roth severe cuts and bruises.

Three persons were injured and four automobiles damaged in a double collision, which occurred at 2 a. m. yesterday in front of 5045 2 a. m. boulevard. Gottfried Schmidt, 2658 Russell boulevard, attempted to turn his automobile around and struck a car driven by Harry Brendall, 5033 Church road. The drivers escaped injury, but the crash was overheard by Patrolman James Moriarty and John Ryan, a private watchman, 6028 Bartmer avenue.

Hit by A. C. Crunden's Car. While they were investigating, two passing motorists—Daniel Parker, 5895 Clemens avenue, and David Kornblum, 6312 Carter avenue—halted to make inquiry. As all were looking on, an automobile driven by Arthur C. Crunden, 31, secretary of the Crunden-Martin Manufacturing Co., crashed into the group. At St. Luke's Hospital Parker was pronounced suffering from internal injuries and lacerations were cut on the head and legs, and Ryan suffered injuries to the back and lacerations of the head. Crunden was charged with careless driving.

Endeavoring to cross Eastgate avenue, near Delmar boulevard, about 10 p. m., Mrs. Elsie Lautrich, 50, 53 Gafford place, Clayton, was struck by an automobile driven by Harry Siegal, an insurance broker, of 4412 Enright avenue. At St. Luke's Hospital she was found to have suffered a fractured leg.

Fred Sing, 63 years old, a city park watchman, 328 Valentine street, suffered a fractured skull when struck by an automobile as he was crossing Seventh boulevard at Spruce street about 9 p. m. The driver, Perry L. Nelson, 2354 South Jefferson avenue, was arrested.

Auto Driver Arrested. Gus Mitchell, 38, an enamel worker, 5303 Maffitt avenue, suffered a fractured skull and leg when struck by an automobile as he, accompanied by his wife, sought to cross Union boulevard at North Market street, at 12:55 a. m. today. The driver, Earl Trulove, 29, a barber, living at 2533 Chester street, was arrested.

Ten Persons Hurt When County Bus Rams Phone Pole.

Fog caused the driver of a Big Bend Motor Bus Co. bus to swerve from the narrow space of Big Bend road, near Sylvester avenue, Webster Groves, last evening, and the vehicle crashed against a telephone pole.

There were 19 passengers. Five suffered only minor injuries, but injuries of the others were reported as follows: Homer Sturvant, 8 years old, of 700 West Big Bend road, broken nose; his sister, Genevieve, 10, bruised left leg; Calile Duplemp, 40, Negro, of Meacham Park, laceration of left eyelid and bruised left leg; Lillian Hampton, 38, Negro, of Meacham Park, lacerations and bruises of left leg; Edward Ross, 40, Negro, of Meacham Park, laceration of left eyelid.

Frank Sturz of 728 East Madison avenue, Kirkwood, was the driver. Death Here After Du Quoin Crash Held Accidental.

A verdict of accident was returned at the inquest today in the case of Edward Patterson, 49 years old, of 2008 Wash street, who died at City Hospital Wednesday from internal injuries suffered in an automobile collision near Du Quoin, Ill., on Jan. 8.

Edward Patterson, 3, his son, who was driving a truck, on which his father was a passenger, testified a Ford coupe driven by Mrs. Violet O'Keefe of Summerfield, Ill., collided with the truck, causing him to steer into a ditch. He escaped injury.

A THREE DAYS' COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. Creomulsion Company, Atlanta, Ga.

Jews at Annual Dinner Dance.

The annual dinner dance of the B'nai B'rith Congregation, was held last night at Hotel Jefferson. Menus of the brotherhood and the sisterhood of the congregation attended. Sigmund Livingston, speaking at the dinner, discussed the cause of anti-Jewish prejudice. The means for allaying such prejudice, he said, is good conduct on the part of Jews, and active refutation of calumnies against the race. FABRIC WORK FOREMAN AT SCOTT FIELD RESIGNS

Harry P. Lister Third Civilian Employee to Quit Air Service as Result of Recent Investigation.

The Scott Field technical force lost another man today when Harry P. Lister, foreman fabric worker and a civilian employee of the Air Service, tendered his resignation to the commanding officer, Lieutenant-Colonel John A. Paegelow, effective Feb. 28.

Lister declared he was resigning because of dissatisfaction with the conduct of the repair shops at the field and because of failure of Air Service authorities to tell him the disposition of charges made against him following his appearance as a witness before a military board of inquiry last November.

Nature of the Charges.
The board, as has been told by the Post-Dispatch, sat to investigate charges made by A. Leo Stevens, veteran aeronaut and $500-a-year civilian employee, that materials used in the assembly and repair of airplanes at the field were of inferior quality and incompetently handled. After hearing the testimony the board recommended that Stevens and Edward R. Boland, another veteran balloon and airplane man, submit their resignations. At the same time charges of incompetency were brought by Capt. Hawthorne C. Gray, engineer officer, against Lister, who also had substantiated Stevens' charges before the board.

Among the specifications was a charge that Lister had been seen loitering in front of the shops on two days in July when he should have been working. Post cards show that Lister was on leave on those two days and he said today that he was in Rock Island, Ill. at the time. Other specifications were that he had put tape on an airplane envelope in an improper manner and had inefficiently performed repair work.

"I made a formal request for information on the charges after I had made a detailed reply," Lister said. "The disposition was never given to me and I think it best to resign and get out of it all. I am thoroughly disgusted with the administration of the lighter-than-air service and I am convinced that the lighter-than-air will continue to be a failure as long as it is handled in the present manner."

Condemned Cement Used.
One of the charges made by Stevens was that a cement condemned by the Bureau of Standards was being used in sealing ship joints and patches at the field. He declared that the cement made aircraft unsafe for operation, and Lister and Boland supported his opinion.

"After the condemnation by the bureau he continued to use the cement, which was put out by a well-known commercial organization," Lister said today. "The officers in charge simply ordered us to tear the labels from the cans and pour the cement into buckets for use."

It was this cement, Stevens testified during the hearing, that parted on a test tension of 500 pounds when it should have held to 1200 pounds. Boland charged, when he announced his resignation last week, that use of the inferior cement was responsible for the crash of the airplane TU-5 over New Athens, Ill., last spring.

Lister in service since 1918. Lister, who intends to return to the automobile business in which he was engaged before the war, entered the service in 1918 and the day after his discharge was appointed a civilian employee for fabric work. His salary was $4,400 a year. His first service detail was at Fort Omaha, Neb. He came to Scott Field a year ago after having served several years in the engineering division at McCook Field, Dayton, O.

Lieutenant-Colonel Paegelow has declined to discuss the resignations of the civilian employees, beyond pointing out that Major-General Mason M. Patrick, Chief of Air Service, commended his handling of Scott Field on a recent visit here. The criticism of none of the men who resigned has been directed at Col. Paegelow, but rather at several of his subordinates and at one of the officers on the military board of inquiry.

One Minute 52

Be Sure of These Three Things When You Select a Washer

That it will wash all clothes clean.
That it will wash them fast.
That it will positively not injure your delicate fabrics.

The One Minute brings you all Three.

Imagine a washer so perfect in performance that even badly soiled neckbands, collars and cuffs are washed without hand rubbing. And think of a washer so fast that a tubful of the heaviest clothes are sparkling clean in from five to ten minutes. On performance and speed alone One Minute would be your first choice among all washers.

But to complete the range of usefulness, One Minute has an added advantage. A feature which has puzzled washer manufacturers for years, a development it has taken us over a quarter of a century to perfect. Now your finest lingerie, sheerest hose, your most delicate fabrics cannot be injured no matter how long they are left in this washer.

And so efficient, so fast, so absolutely harmless to the finest materials is this One Minute Washer that it establishes an entirely new standard of washer performance.

And though better, the One Minute costs no more than modern quality electric washers and any One Minute dealer is prepared to arrange convenient time payments: Ask about our plan.

"OVER A MILLION SATISFIED ONE MINUTE USERS"

Only the
ONE MINUTE
Brings You These Notable
Improvements

CLEANER CLOTHES: One Minute washes all clothes clean. Hand rubbing is entirely done away with. In this feature, a worthwhile advancement has been made. Even firmly imbedded dirt is flushed from the meshes of any fabric by the mighty water action in the One Minute tub.

QUICKER: One Minute washes a big tubful of clothes in from five to ten minutes. There has never been anything like the One Minute water action for speed in washing the heaviest or lightest clothes and materials.

SAFER: One Minute will not injure your finest fabrics. Nothing mechanical touches them, no agitators, no cups, no moving devices of any kind are in the tub to catch or tear the clothes. The One Minute washes safer by water action alone. Water action created by an entirely new and better principle.

ROBBED AT POLICEMAN'S ELBOW

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
CHICAGO, Jan. 18.—Only seven feet away, as William Siegel cashed his pay check at the Diversy Trust & Savings Bank Saturday night, stood a policeman.
But less than seven inches away,
with revolver under coat, was the thief, who had marched him in to get the money.

Siegel considered calling the attention of the policeman to his plight. Just then the thief nudged him with the revolver. So Siegel drew his $35, accompanied the robber to the sidewalk, handed him the bills and watched him drive away with two companions.

Hunan, Hupeh, Honan, Kiangsi and Szechuan, but have not yet reached the stage where outside assistance is considered necessary. This is the substance of reports reaching the international famine relief commission here. The shortage of food supplies in these regions is attributed to failure of rice crops along the Middle Yangtze River, depredations of the military forces, and the increased cultivation of the opium poppy.

OPPOSITION TO FASCISM ABSURD, SAYS MUSSOLINI

Declares Aventine Deputies Cannot Enter Italian Chamber Unless They Acknowledge This.

HE INTENDS TO RETAIN POWER A LONG TIME

Insists That Foes Publicly
Acknowledge Failure of Their "Nefarious, and Scandalous Campaign."

By the Associated Press.
ROME, Jan. 17. Political opposition to the Fascist regime is useless and absurd, Premier Mussolini told the Chamber of Deputies, in announcing that as long as he held power, the Aventine oppositionists would not be permitted to return to the Chamber unless they renounced their "die-hard" antagonism to Fascism.

The Premier's statement was made at a special session yesterday, called to discuss the "moral question" of the Aventine oppositionists' accusation that Mussolini was implicated in the murder of the Socialist Deputy, Matteotti.

At the memorial services Saturday for D'Annunzio, Queen Margherita, the so-called Aventine opposition, members of the Popular party, entered the Chamber, after having refused to take part in proceedings of that body for many months. Serious disorders arose, in which some of the recalcitrant deputies were injured. Yesterday the Premier accused them of adding insult to injury by choosing as the moment for their return the commemoration of the first Italian Queen, who loved Fascism intensely and who was intensely beloved by Fascism.

"Sneaked Into Assembly."
Instead of explaining why they came back, with the "moral question" unsolved, the oppositionists, Mussolini declared, "sneaked into this Assembly, hoping for impunity because our emotions were aroused by memory of the great deed."

"I must repeat my clear intimation," he continued, "I must again confront the oppositionists with our unshakable conditions. The opposition has spoken of Fascism as being a myth. Personally, I refuse to be a myth; I do not desire to be shelved before my time. I am extremely alive, like all Fascists. Anyhow, many of those who desire to burn incense before mythical personages often are liars and cowards. Whoever from the Aventine desires to re-enter the Chamber, thanks to my tolerance, must solemnly and publicly fulfill three conditions:

"1. Acknowledge that the Fascist revolution is an accomplished fact and has by now become a regime which has profoundly changed the Constitution of the Italian state, so that any pre-revolutionary opposition is politically useless and historically absurd, and may be understood only by those who live outside the limits of the state.

"2. Acknowledge not less publicly and solemnly that the nefarious and scandalous campaign of the Aventine has miserably failed because of a moral question regarding the Fascist Government and party has never existed.

"3. Must publicly and solemnly separate their responsibility from that of persons who across the frontiers continue anti-Fascist agitation.

May Hope for Tolerance.
After having accepted and fulfilled these conditions, the disbanded Aventine Deputies may hope that we will be tolerant and that they may re-enter the Chamber. But without acceptance and execution of these conditions they will never re-enter so long as I shall be in this place, and I expect and intend to remain here for a long time."

"Forever Forever" was roared from all benches in answer. Mussolini was wildly cheered, those in the galleries joining with those on the floor of the House. The Chamber then adjourned until Jan. 21.

Nitrate Mountain in Arizona.
By the Associated Press.
TUCSON, Ariz., Jan. 18.—The Arizona Daily Star says that a nitrate deposit discovered on the Arizona River of Arizona, near the mining town of Winkelman, comprises an entire mountain and is the first deposit of its kind to be found in the United States. William Barker and his son, Wilbur, of Glenham, Ariz., staked out the claim. Previous experts investigating the find are quoted as saying the deposit is similar in content to those of Peru and Chile.

Russian Crown Jewels Worth $250,000,000 Put on Display in Old Clubhouse

Peasants and Workers Flock to See Solid Mantle of Diamonds on Exhibit on Cases and Boxes.

By the Associated Press.
MOSCOW, Jan. 16.—Russian workers and peasants are flocking by many thousands to enjoy the dazzling splendor of the crown jewels of the Romanoffs, now the property of every poor citizen of this communist republic. This collection has been turned into a source of revenue by the Soviet Government. The general public is charged an admission fee of $1, but members of the trade unions and communist organizations pay only 25 cents.

Special Correspondence of the Post-Dispatch and the Chicago Daily News.
(Copyright 1926.)
MOSCOW, Dec. 12.—About 11 o'clock this morning an American newspaper man tramped through the snow of Nastasievsky lane to the imposing but dilapidated old clubhouse at No. 3, past a motionless soldier with red-starred cap and a rifle, through the iron gate of the carriage entrance and, without knocking, pushed through the side door. Correspondents from other countries straggled in at intervals until a dozen had hung their coats in the lobby. They strolled through a swinging door into what seemed a big, bare warehouse of benches, sacks and boxes. A few more steps took them into a smaller room with more packing cases and tables like those in hotel sample rooms along the walls on three sides. This was the treasure house of Soviet Russia.

A rainbow sea glistened and sparkled on the tables and boxes—a solid mantle of diamonds flecked with the yellow of gold and with rubies, emeralds, sapphires and stones of every hue—$250,000,000 worth of them, asked price—the jewels of the czars. A workman in a blue cotton blouse was waiting to show the merchandise. Other workmen leaned against the walls, watching the display.

$54,000,000 Value in Five Pounds.
A workman with close-cropped hair picked up the crown of the Romanoffs and began the story of the matchless collection—memories of tragedy and joy, bloodshed and glory, distant lands and strange people of the past.

The crown, which according to some authorities has no equal weighs five pounds. It is covered with 4,600 carats of diamonds and, according to Soviet experts, is worth 104,330,130 rubles. A ruble is equivalent to 52.1 cents.

In the shape the crown resembles a derby hat that has survived a football celebration without a scratch and having two long splits lengthwise across the top. It is lined with red plush.

Peter the Great had this crown made in 1721. Five years later it passed to his widow, Catherine I, the humble Finnish girl he had married in his younger years. A rectangular diamond in the middle—large as an American postage stamp—was presented by the merchants of Nizhni Novgorod.

The crown is topped by a cross of five-carat diamonds, standing on an uncut ruby, one of the largest in the world. Not all the diamonds are pure white, a few of yellow and other shades having been used to make the crown more beautiful in the sunshine.

The Great Orlov Diamond.
After the workman had returned the crown to its little plush rug the scepter was held up—a three-foot stick of gold, ribbed with bands of diamonds and containing the great Orlov diamond that glares like a malevolent eye. Projecting from the end of the scepter is a diamond—large as an American postage stamp—in black enamel, surrounded by a circle of diamonds.

One story is that the historic 184-carat Orlov diamond was once the eye of a statue of Buddha in India and was stolen by an Englishman, who, in order to escape with it, cut off a leg and hid it in his newly acquired wooden leg.

A more authentic story begins with the purchase of the diamond for 200,000 rubles by Count Alexis Orlov, the notorious Russian adventurer, brother of Catherine, favorite of Catherine the Great and reputed assassin of her husband, Peter III, in the St. Petersburg fortress.

The scepter is valued at 60,782,600 rubles.

One imperial hat on days of state held the "derjava," the imperial globe or emblem of the realm, a ball of gold the size of an indoor baseball. It has an inch-wide band of diamonds, a glorious 157-carat sapphire in the center and a vertical cross of 11 large pure white diamonds on top. It is valued at 48,889,700 rubles.

Persian Gem a Peace Offering.
Tossing carefully in separate boxes in the room were two Andrew, a Chinese and a Russian. Each of the many links of ornamental design entirely in diamonds. The larger one, each link a plaque as large as a child's hand, is quoted at $173,000 rubles.

BRITISH THEOSOPHISTS REBEL AGAINST NEW WORLD RELIGION

Sixteen Members Withdraw at One Meeting, 40 in Another Lodge Quit in Body.

Copyright 1926, by the Press and Publishing Co., New York World and Post-Dispatch.
LONDON, Jan. 18.—At a meeting of the National Council of the Theosophical Society in England here it was disclosed that a number of members and one complete lodge had withdrawn from the organization on account of the society's adoption of a new world religion, instituted for the coming of Dr. Annie Besant's new world leader, the young Hindu, J. Krishnamurti, the correspondent learned last night.

Sixteen individual members have resigned as a protest since last October and a London lodge of 40 members—the oldest lodge in Great Britain—left as a body for the same reason.

Practically the whole of yesterday's meeting was occupied in discussing the Messianic issue. William Loftus Hare, one of the members of the National Council, whose protest against the society's adoption of the new religion and the penetration of it by the "Liberal Catholic Church."

However, Hare's protest, which was put in the form of a resolution, was supported only by himself and its second. During the meeting it was made known that the Canadian Theosophical Society had refused to agree to the general secretary's making public a statement of the basic truth of the "world religion."

Of blue and pink diamonds. The pink is said to be one of the world's finest. One of the many floral pieces in precious stones which adorned the coronets of the czars is a rare combination of white, blue, lemon and pink diamonds. Another represents a rose, the bud in diamonds and the leaves in emeralds.

Catherine's Enormous Earrings.
Catherine the Great had a passion for diamonds, as did the other refined Marie Feodorovna. Catherine's earrings were numerous and of a barbaric size. They hooked over her ears like gold-rimmed spectacles. One set was six large and 50 smaller diamonds in a row and place. In another four rubies take the place of the larger diamonds—a plaque about two inches square.

Peasant superstitions lived beneath the emblems of the old Russian autocrats. Fearfully few jewels have its story of tragedy though many were regarded as charms to ward off bad luck. In one of the little silk jewel cases were six brown squares, like polished wood, each with a border of diamonds. The squares were cut from the hoofs of horses and were supposed to bring happiness to the wearers.

A store of diamond epaulettes which had never been awarded to victorious Generals or Admirals was placed near a tall gold goblet on a lavishly embossed gold tray. The goblet had been a present of the Tsar to his defense of St. Petersburg against Charles XII of Sweden in 1700. Saitkov was one of the many favorites of Catherine the Great, and, according to popular belief, was the father of Czar Paul I.

Baby's Rattle in Diamonds.
Pathetic is the gold rattle with its filigree of diamonds and rubies, one end and gold whistle and the other a ivory handle which held a baby's teeth. It was the sole solace of the little czarvitch, Ivan Antonovitch, in Schusselburg fortress. When the motley group of short-term rulers who followed Peter the Great was exhausted, Anna Leopoldovna, a German Princess, and widow of Peter's father, brought young Ivan from Germany. She was regent and he was a baby. Czar, by the tyranny and cruelties of the German favorite who accompanied her brought their downfall. They fled to Germany. The two-year-old czar, with his rattle and his baby toys, was imprisoned in the fortress.

The political problem was solved, Russian style, by the murder of the baby.

The Russian crown jewels as appraised by government experts are worth 600,000,000 rubles. Exactly how many thousands separate stones are in the collection is not known.

Through the thin partition as we looked at the jewels came the constant clink of coins. As we left the room of jewels for the big room workmen were sitting down at the tables for their meal. They had been counting money. The sacks and boxes presumably contained gold and silver. After it is counted it is melted and recoined with the hammer and sickle taking the place of the imperial eagle.

In rows on the floor were a couple of hundred ingots, in all some thing more than $2,500,000.

Protest Against Press Censorship.
By the Associated Press.
BUCHAREST, Jan. 18.—The Bucharest news press is protesting against Government censorship and other restrictions on the publication of their journals. They have passed a resolution strongly protesting against the institution of censorship as a condition of the sale of foreign newspapers and is protesting. The resolution requests prompt revocation of what is termed exceptional and unconstitutional anti-press measures.

Two the pins of Alexander II, son of Nicholas I, are fine specimens of blue and pink diamonds. The pink is said to be one of the world's finest. One of the many floral pieces in precious stones which adorned the coronets of the czars is a rare combination of white, blue, lemon and pink diamonds. Another represents a rose, the bud in diamonds and the leaves in emeralds.

SAYS BAD LIQUOR IS DRIVING U. S. TO PROHIBITION FOLD

L. H. Breuer, Dry Director,
Asserts Drinkers Grow
Tired of Being Buncoed
With Fake Whisky.

PUBLIC CONSCIENCE
AROUSSED, HE THINKS

Tells W. C. T. U. of Progress in Enforcement—
Commends Co-operation
by City and State.

Conscience and prudence are combining to bring about better observance of the prohibition laws, said Louis H. Breuer, Federal prohibition administrator for this district, at an eighteenth amendment rally held yesterday afternoon at Union Methodist Church. The meeting, in observance of the sixth anniversary of the date when national prohibition took effect, was held under auspices of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union. About 450 were present.

Breuer said that many persons, who formerly viewed the prohibition law without the slightest sting of conscience, now observed it, because they regarded it as no longer a passing fad, but an established law. Secondly, he said, the public has come to realize that "high-grade champagne and whisky" is no longer paying $15 to $25 a quart for it.

"A few years ago," he said, "hundreds of men would walk miles to buy what they believed was 'real' whisky. Now they would pay exorbitant prices for it. Those men have come to the realization that they have been buncoed."

St. Louis County Champagne.
"They know the stuff," he said, "and they are disgusted with themselves upon being able to buy" was the rankest of moonshine, bearing false labels. We found some 'Cook's Imperial Champagne' being made in St. Louis County under filthy conditions. The manufacturers had a good supply of fake labels, good-looking tin foil and stamped corks.

"Another reason for the strides being made in enforcement is the support the Government is receiving locally. At first the city and State courts took the attitude that prohibition was a matter for the Government to handle. They washed their hands of it. Now, however, they are sending men to the penitentiaries and workhouses and fining others every day."

Pointing out the progress made during his four months in office, Breuer said 216 stills had been seized and destroyed in that time; 85 arrests made with 261 convictions or pleas of guilty; $159,588 in fines collected and 445,916 gallons of mash destroyed. Referring to the amount collected in fines, he said the expense of his district had not been that much.

One of the greatest problems in the enforcement of prohibition, Breuer pointed out, is that of the division which has supervision over liquor permits for the legal with-holding of bonded liquors. He said there were 36 legitimate concerns handling barbers supplies in St. Louis when the prohibition amendment was passed. A short time ago, he continued, there were 200, and he added that years ago there were 5000 persons in this city with alcohol and liquor withdrawal permits. "Now there are only 2000, and we are cutting them down steadily," he added.

The meeting was presided over by Mrs. Charles M. Hay, president of the local W. C. T. U., who declared that it would be only a short time until there is as thorough enforcement of the prohibition law as any other law.

Asked to Sign Petition.
The church was asked to sign a petition requesting Congress not to modify the Eighteenth Amendment and pledging law observance. Thirteen children, who, it was announced, were sons and daughters of foreign-born parents, sang several songs.

The Rev. Thomas O. Grieves, pastor of the church, preached last night on "Dynamiting the Bootlegger."

Prohibition Not Yet a Success, Says Dr. Stafford.
"Prohibition is not yet a success," the Rev. Dr. Russell H. Stafford said in his sermon at Pilgrim Congregational Church yesterday, occasioned by the sixth anniversary of the national prohibition law.

"It ought to be a success," he continued, "for it is the best way of handling a difficult situation. We need a new hopefulness, and a new loyalty. Prohibition will some day be a failure unless we carry it on. We must keep the Anti-Saloon League, and all other accredited agencies for this cause, in the field, until the country settles down to acceptance of the law, and a reasonable degree of efficiency has been attained in its enforcement."

Orchids As Found in the Jungle

PHOTOGRAPH shows one of the many groups of orchids now on display at Shaw's Garden. The flowers are shown here hanging from a dead tree limb, just as they are found—except for the baskets—in the tropical wilds. Baskets such as those shown hang from nearly every veranda in the native village.

SAYS MELLON'S KIN RULES LEGISLATORS

Pinchot Sends Letter to Secretary Emphasizing His Statement of Saturday.

By the Associated Press.
HARRISBURG, Pa., Jan. 18.—Gov. Pinchot has sent a letter to Secretary of the Treasury Mellon in which he characterized as "a plain statement of a plain fact" his inference in Washington Saturday that certain members of the Pennsylvania Legislature were under control of W. L. Mellon, the Secretary's nephew.

Mellon yesterday termed the Governor's remark as "indefensible insinuation."

"The men to whom I refer and their local leaders not only acknowledge but they openly assert and even glory in the fact of Mellon's control," says the Governor's letter. "These men voted wet in the last two Legislatures and are expected to vote wet on the present extra session."

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Jan. 18.—W. L. Mellon, commenting on the letter Gov. Pinchot announced he had sent to Secretary Mellon, said the attitude of "each and every candidate for the Legislature in Allegheny County on the wet or dry question was well known to constituents and to the general public, and it was reasonable to presume that they would follow the wishes of their constituents. At no time have I, or so far as I know, the Republican organization, sought to alter these views in any way," he said.

pastor of the church, preached last night on "Dynamiting the Bootlegger."

Prohibition Not Yet a Success, Says Dr. Stafford.
"Prohibition is not yet a success," the Rev. Dr. Russell H. Stafford said in his sermon at Pilgrim Congregational Church yesterday, occasioned by the sixth anniversary of the national prohibition law.

"It ought to be a success," he continued, "for it is the best way of handling a difficult situation. We need a new hopefulness, and a new loyalty. Prohibition will some day be a failure unless we carry it on. We must keep the Anti-Saloon League, and all other accredited agencies for this cause, in the field, until the country settles down to acceptance of the law, and a reasonable degree of efficiency has been attained in its enforcement."

In discussing present conditions, Dr. Stafford said it was not true that there was more drinking in the colleges now than in the days before prohibition. "It would be literally impossible, in view of the limitations of the human sample, for more drinking to take place in college than was the rule in my student days," he said. "It is true, he added, that more women are drinking than before, but this is because women are doing many things they did not formerly do. They are smoking—I wish there were fewer who smoked. They are voting—I wish there were more who voted."

COOLIDGE ASSAILED BY SENATOR WHEELER

Government Now Is by Blackmail and Intimidation, He Says in Baltimore.

By the Associated Press.
BALTIMORE, Jan. 18.—Never has the legislative power under the Constitution been flouted and defied by the executive as it has been in the last few years, Senator Wheeler, Democrat, Montana, declared in an address at the Baltimore Open Forum yesterday.

"Instead of a Government of the people, by the people and for the people," Wheeler said, "we have a Government by propaganda and by executive order, transmitted through the medium of lame ducks and other servile appointees named by the President to positions of enormous power in the departments and bureaus."

"We have government by intimidation, by which members of Congress and Government employees who have revealed fraud or inefficiency are punished by ostracism or dismissal from the service. We have government by blackmail, for the detentions of which I refer you to the experiences of Senator Couzens of Michigan."

"The executive branch of the Government, in the contest for supremacy with the legislative branch, is dominated today by the great financial, industrial and commercial interests. There was a time when the Napoleons of finance and the captains of industry came to Washington by night and held secret conference with the White House. That day is past. They now come in the full light of day, breakfast with President Coolidge, or spend a week-end on the Mayflower at Government expense."

"The actual governmental business of Washington is executed today through the departments and bureaus. These have become the tentacles of the executive power, reaching into every function in government, even to the legislative branch."

"No law can be presented to Congress that affects in any way a departmental matter before it has been submitted to that department and a report had thereon. The departments and subordinate bureaus have become the censors of legislation."

Princess Hurt at Fairbanks Home.
BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., Jan. 18.—Princess Bibesco, wife of the Rumanian Ambassador to the United States, suffered bruises and a slight concussion of the brain when thrown from a horse while riding on the Douglas Fairbanks estate here yesterday. Her mount became frightened and ran away while the Princess was riding with her younger brother, Anthony Asquith. The Princess is the daughter of Earl Herbert Henry Asquith, former Prime Minister of Great Britain.

POLITICAL AX FALLS ON VICE PREMIER

Move Apparently Designed to Impress Foreign Gov-

Policy.

By the Associated Press.
MOSCOW, Jan. 18.—Another striking example of the severe fate which awaits those who violate communist party regularity and discipline is to be found in the changes made in the bolshevik cabinet Saturday.

In addition to suffering a serious setback in the recent elections to the powerful political bureau, Leo Kamenef and G. Y. Sokolnikoff, who, with M. Zinovieff, were bold enough to participate in a minority movement against the old guard in the last party campaigns, have been further humbled.

Kamenef has been relieved of the highly important posts of chairman of the council of labor and defense and Vice Premier, and Sokolnikoff has lost his position as commissar of finance, which he held for three years.

While Kamenef now is at the head of the newly consolidated internal and foreign trade department, this office does not carry anything like the political weight of his former post.

Gets Advisory Post.
Sokolnikoff's case is more striking. He is generally credited with stabilizing the ruble, nationalizing Russian banks, and accomplishing many notable currency reforms. He was firmly opposed to any concessions to Russia's former creditors. His new appointment as vice chairman of the State planning Commission is relatively unimportant, as this is purely an advisory body.

Zinovieff, the actual leader of the minority movement at the communist party campaigns, escaped formal political decapitation only because he holds no executive post in the Government. Undoubtedly, however, he will share the same fate as Leon Trotsky, and henceforth will have to maintain discreet silence. Some even predict that he eventually will lose his place in the ranks of the communist international.

Meaning of Shake-up.
These changes are interpreted by foreign political observers here as a definite turn of the party chiefs to the right, because the defeated oppositionists were members of the left wing. The change also held to be evidence of the Government's desire to give Europe and America proof of its intention to preserve the new economic policy unimpaired.

It is not without interest that Sokolnikoff's replacement as Commissar of Finance comes on the eve of the resumption of the Russo-French debt negotiations. Sokolnikoff was widely expected that Russia could prosper without foreign loans and credits.

THE POST-DISPATCH PLATFORM.

I know that my retirement will make no difference in its cardinal principles, that it will always fight for progress and reform, never tolerate injustice or corruption, always fight demagogues of all parties, never belong to any party, always oppose privileged classes and public plunderers, never lack sympathy with the poor, always remain devoted to the public welfare, never be satisfied with merely printing news, always be drastically independent, never be afraid to attack wrong, whether by predatory plutocracy or predatory poverty.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

Work of the Community Fund.

K EYMAN asked in Friday's Post-Dispatch "where is the Community Chest we hear so much about when a drive for funds is on and just what is it they do with the funds after they get them?"

The Community Fund is very much on the job day and night, rendering service to 80 charitable and philanthropic organizations, making possible far more effective and economical use of the contributions of the citizens of St. Louis and St. Louis County than by any other means would be possible.

Its member organizations are perfectly willing to render the necessary help in any case of need. There is no need at any time for the police to give emergency help or for the newspapers to publish appeals for assistance. A telephone call to the Community Fund or to which ever one of the 80 organizations which make up the Community Fund is specially adapted to meet that need will receive instant and adequate attention with emergency relief to meet any situation and prompt and constructive service following to prevent the recurrence of need.

As a matter of fact in the case of Marvin Alexander, who appealed to the police for aid for the burial of his wife, there was no need for this assistance by the police or by any welfare organization. Marvin Alexander has arranged with relatives to pay the undertaker for the shipment of the body to the home in St. Marks, Mo., from which Alexander and his family have only recently come. This fact was brought out by the Provident Association which was already in touch with the situation and has supplied food and fuel, and the clothing necessary for the trip. This constructive action made unnecessary the expenditure of $60 which would have had to be taken from the contributions of St. Louis citizens for what really was a non-essential family and helped to preserve the independence of the family rather than to break it down by unnecessary aids.

Very truly yours,
DANIEL K. CATLIN,
General Chairman, Community Fund of St. Louis.

A "Wonderful Spectacle."

I HAD the pleasure last night of witnessing that wonderful spectacle, "The Miracle." This is without a question the greatest play I have ever witnessed and I have just written Mrs. Borghoff at Omaha to make a special trip this week, so she may see this wonderful production.

The people of St. Louis should certainly feel very proud for the opportunity of having this wonderful spectacle presented in their city, and I think every man, woman and child should see this master play.

A Great Bluff.

THE claims of the Italian Fascist of St. Louis that 8000 or 6000 Italians are sympathetic to the program of Fascism, as related in the Post-Dispatch of Jan. 6, is the greatest bluff ever attempted on the Italian colony. The majority of the Italian masses in America are by all means friendly loving and patriotic. The brutal dictatorship that crushed democracy in Italy and are very thankful to the American press for their denunciation of this black spot on the Italian history. In the name of the Italian colony of this city, I dare Mr. Giuseppe Carotti to prove that the truth of his assertions with a parade or something better than plain words. P. A.

"Our Alma Mater."

WHAT of the former graduates of Central High School—of 10 years ago—25 years ago—30 years ago—are their memories to die out, memories of the most beautiful, oldest school, and the most impressive of team work—one for all, and all for one?

Are those colors—the Red and Black, to fade into those Blue and Yellow, or perhaps those of the red and more beautiful Beaumont School, or others? Is it true that they are going to turn this memorable school into a vocational school? Are we no longer to point that sight out to our visitors—that that was our school, and that it is with pride? I would deeply appreciate an answer to my queries, as I am certain this matter stands for discussion in many homes, and other places of meeting.

ALUMNUS.

THE WHITE HOUSE POLITICIAN.

Senator Norris of Nebraska charges President Coolidge with packing Government commissions, or making appointments with conditions attached to them, for the purpose of controlling the action of those bodies. Instances are cited and rather convincing proof submitted.

One instance is the reappointment of Mr. Lewis to the Tariff Commission. On the testimony of another member of that commission the President wanted Mr. Lewis, who was given a recess appointment during the presidential campaign, to tender a written resignation, effective at the President's pleasure. Mr. Lewis declined. It is charged that the Lewis appointment was a political move to impress the country with the President's fair-mindedness in retaining on that commission a Democrat whose tariff views were quite the opposite of Mr. Coolidge's. The charge seemingly is borne out by the fact that after the election, when the recess tenure expired, Mr. Lewis was dropped. Another name was sent to the Senate.

The case of Mr. Haney, whose resignation from the Shipping Board was summarily demanded by the President by wire from the Summer White House, is a matter of newspaper record. Mr. Coolidge charged Mr. Haney with failing to keep an agreement entered into at the time of his appointment. Mr. Haney denied any agreement, politely explaining that in such assumption the President was mistaken. Mr. Haney, it is said, is scheduled for retirement.

To Senator Norris this arbitrary exercise of his appointing power by the President is a grave abuse of executive authority, which "will shock the conscience of the American people." In his judgment the President "is violating the laws of the land" by making partisan or rubber-stamp instruments of commissions which the law intended to be independent bodies.

Whether those charges will shock the popular conscience, as Mr. Norris predicts, remains to be seen. It is pertinent, however, to say that the Norris charges have already been recited as facts accomplished in a complimentary appraisal of the Coolidge character by the President's close and admiring friend, William Allen White. In a recent article in Collier's Mr. White explained these actions complained of by Senator Norris as due to the President's profound belief in property. In the genius of business for creating and distributing blessings and, therefore, in the obligation devolving upon him zealously to shield industry from any untoward wind whatsoever. As between protecting business and observing the spirit of the law, Mr. Coolidge would protect business and do so conscientiously. Mr. White did not say that in so many words, but he said it in effect. And if he did not bestow the accolade of his approval on this philosophy there was no flush of indignation, no slightest trace of shock, in the kindly Kansas's Plutarchian narrative.

The White explanation, in our opinion, is incomplete. The presidential conduct, which so distresses Senator Norris, may thus be summed up: Mr. Coolidge is playing practical politics in the presidency. Is that surprising? Could anything else fairly be expected? Is not politics Mr. Coolidge's profession—the only profession he has ever really practiced? Has he not made his living in and by politics? In a professional sense, is not politics the only thing he knows? Can the habits, methods, viewpoints and mental processes of a lifetime be suddenly changed by the incumbency of the highest of all political offices?

Whatever the answer, Senator Norris has raised a question of practical moment and concern. If public boards, created to serve the public interest impartially and according to their best judgment, are to be controlled through secret understanding with the appointing official, then why not abolish them all? Again, if the President can make such private arrangements with his appointees to various commissions which can be not make similar arrangements with judicial appointees? If the President can dominate the commissions why can he not dominate the courts?

The Post-Dispatch looks for no heated reaction to the Norris charges against Mr. Coolidge. We have seen bribery and incompetence degrade the highest official circles with cynical composure. The Falls, Daughertys, Denbys, the Dohneys, the Sinciers, the Forbeses—booze, oil and a suicidal bullet to color the brew with blood—such history has left our citizenry unmoved. Shall we, who are 100-per-cent shock proof, get wrought up over the sly, practical politics of the Puritan at Washington?

BACK TO THE RESERVATION.

JIM Thorpe, at the age of 40, is, through. He is going back to the home of his Indian kinsfolk, there to hunt and fish and live in the sun. Jim's last stand was made at St. Petersburg, Fla., where less than 300 persons paid to see the famous athlete struggle through four quarters of a scoreless football game. It was an ignominious end of an athletic career that 20 years ago was radiant with promise.

At Carlisle in the old days Thorpe played football magna cum laude. He was the flashiest thing on the gridiron. He returned from the Stockholm games in 1912 crowned with bay leaves for winning the individual championship. Shortly afterward the crown was snatched from his noble copper brow after he was charged with professionalism.

The performance at Stockholm was the high point of Thorpe's career. On the theory that a brilliant all-around athlete would make a good ball-player, John McGraw hired him to play with the New York Giants. To put it concisely, Thorpe was a flop.

He has been a misfit ever since. Now at last he hears the old racial call and wisely he is answering it. Back home where the trees are his grandstand, the birds his cheering thousands may this good old Indian find work and comfort and a lazy hour now and then to live in day-dreams the battles of long ago and faraway.

THE PENNY'S PIE.

Few acts of railroads have so touched us as the Pennsylvania's recent ruling that all pies served in its dining cars henceforth must have filling at least an inch thick. The standards for dining cars pies, hitherto, have been in a chaotic state. Crusts have appeared in all variations of crispness and toughness. Fillings fluctuate from a quarter of an inch to an inch and a quarter. There has been no artistry about dining car pies, no indication that the railroad which served them to us had any ideals whatever. The average pie was like an upper berth. We took it because no alternative seemed at hand.

While, ordinarily, we think the reform movement should have started with the crust instead of the filling, the Pennsylvania presumably aims at gradual improvement. Anyway, the mere thought that the Pennsylvania cares enough about pie to guarantee at least an inch of pumpkin, apples, mincemeat or blueberries makes us very happy. We only hope and trust and pray that the cost of the reform will not necessitate an increase in freight rates.

THE MAYOR AND THE STRAPHANGER.

Mayor Miller announces his determination to protect the straphanger in the United Railways reorganization. He insists upon service at cost. He reserves for the city the right to stipulate the extent and character of service to be furnished by the new street car company. He demands the expenditure of large sums for extensions. He proposes to make these things a condition of the company's new franchise which it must seek and reserves for the straphangers the right to pass upon the ordinance in a referendum.

The Mayor tells the people that, after long years of suffering, they hold the whip hand. "Give us what we demand in the way of service or no franchise," is the ultimatum he puts into their mouths.

But what does the Mayor propose to do with the Public Service Commission? With one fine flourish of his pen he waves it out of existence. The city now possesses a franchise agreement with the Railways for a 5-cent fare, but 7 cents goes tinkling into the fare box just the same. Long ago the Supreme Court of the United States stamped out the right of the city to contract on the sum of street car fares in the face of the existence of the Public Service Commission. The fact is, Mayor Miller can contract for service at cost and the company can agree to it and the next day the Public Service Commission can substitute any fare it sees fit.

Similarly, the Mayor can contract to force the railways to wash its cars every morning, to make its thermometers register 70 degrees, to extend its lines here and put on more cars there, and the Public Service Commission can overthrow each and every stipulation.

The city has abrogated control of its public utilities to the Public Service Commission. Its franchise right now is limited to consent or refusal to allow the street car company to use its streets. All else lies with the commission.

Some things the Mayor can well and legally do. He can, for instance, demand representation for the city on the United Railways' managing board. But his Saturday's utterance is only another example of an old tendency—to fire in the air. An effectual help for the straphanger, that was a blank-cartridge volley.

THE AMERICAN MOTHER.

The American mother, at whose door the ranting spinsters, male and female, lay her daughter's disregard of maidenly conventions, has a champion. He who leaps to her defense admits the American girl, with her rolled hose, cigarette, "petting" parties, paint and occasional flouting of the Volstead law, is a "bit more bold" than the girls of his own land, France. He is Prof. Charles Sestré of the Sorbonne, who spoke recently before the Alliance Française in New York.

The mother, Prof. Sestré found on his recent tour of the United States, by her thirst for education, her admirable record in public life and her brilliant functions wherein she combines business with pleasure, is the outstanding feminine figure of the world. He saw nothing seriously wrong with the morals of American youth, despite all he must have heard from professional regulators of personal morals during his stay in the country.

Shake, professor!

A FIGHTING BISHOP.

That was an extraordinary news story, in Thursday's Post-Dispatch, telling how Bishop Brown, convicted of heresy and ejected by the Protestant Episcopal Church, arraigns his ecclesiastical judges and proclaims himself the Bishop of the down-trodden, the expropriated masses, the under-world, including all the criminal classes, the jobless and unskilled men, those in prisons, and the revolutionary workers. Calling attention to the existence of classes in America, aristocracies and imperialism in the world, the over-flowing prisons, and the crime wave, he adds:

In this situation, the churches have given themselves to theological bickerings and disputes concerning the interpretation of ancient documents. In spite of the fact that America has more laws and more lawlessness than any other great civilization on earth, they have devoted themselves to propaganda for still more laws, ranging from the proposed prohibition of the sale of peanuts on Sunday to the regulation of fashions in women's clothes.

It is a strong indictment, the truth of which cannot be questioned. As to who is guilty, as the old saying has it, "Whom this cap fits, let him wear it." We are told that Bishop Brown is now a regularly consecrated Bishop of the "Old Catholic Church of America," founded in the Netherlands in the seventeenth century and established in this country in 1914. The church has acquired a first-class fighting Bishop in William Montgomery Brown.

OH ELINOR!

As she reads the evening paper,
Homeward bound from work,
Nothing can escape her,
Not a sentence does she shrink.

But does this pensive interest
Center in the day's event,
Or perhaps some wistful saying
Of our silent President?

Of Mellon and his tax plan
Or Garner's substitute
Of Huxley's "Descent of Man"
Or some widow destitute?

Perhaps on the elevation
Of the stocks upon the Bourse,
Or Wall's consternation
On falling off his horse?

Mayhap a bit of scandal
Of a Pittsburgh Baron's son,
Or the finding of a scandal
That was worn by the great shogun?

As we glance across her shoulder,
Her interest brings a gasp,
We laugh as we grow bolder—
She is reading Elinor Glynn!

MAURICE E. HEIMANN.

Canada, like ourselves, is plagued by that opposite interest which inevitably rises between farming in the West and the varied industries in the East. It gives us our insurgent in Congress, and once in a while Mr. Coolidge admits that something ought to be done for farming. The situation in Canada, if we may believe current reports, is much worse than that. The farmers of Western Canada talk of secession. They say they have only patriotism in common with the Eastern provinces, and that does not go very far with people who cannot make ends meet. Evidently nationalism is much stronger with us than with the Canadians. Our farmers are no better off than those of the dominion, but the worst threats they ever make pertain to reform in the Republican party. Nevertheless, the opposite interests of an all-agricultural region and one of the varied industries becomes always more pronounced as the latter join together and thus exploit the only great industry not organized. Our Western farmers have nothing in common with the industrial East. They are as far from serving their own interest as they possibly could be when they help to maintain the Republican tariff. They don't see that, which must be considered a phenomenon of our times. The farmers of Canada see it. They have a sense of realization somehow not possessed by farmers upon this side of the border.

OUR GLASS-CASE THEORY.

From the New York Evening World.

THE American people generally have had no idea of the magnitude of the intensive hunting down of aliens by the Department of Labor. Few realize that these aliens are being deported at the rate of 750 a month. Fewer know that this hunting of aliens is costing the country about $42,000 a month, or an average of more than $2000 a day. It is not generally realized that this particular hunt cost the taxpayers nearly $900,000 last year; and that as a result of the hue and cry and hunt the Department of Labor is running behind more than half a million dollars a year. And we are only at the beginning of the hunt. A new bill is pending which, if enacted, will put the country to the expense of registering millions of aliens every year; and another bill, more vicious than the alien law of infamous memory, is introduced providing easier and more extensive powers of deportation. Our glass-case theory of America is getting to be a luxury. We must be protected against our habits and personal tastes through Volsteadism and that is costing millions. We must protect ourselves against the "foreign devil" through deportations, and the cost is mounting dizzy. Even ideas must not be permitted to get inside the glass case to spoil the works, and that is getting to be expensive, too. But what's the odds? American institutions must be saved. The foreign devil must be sent away. We must continue to "save our boys" through Volsteadism. And to accomplish these noble ends there is always more money in the people's pockets that is as good as that we have already spent.

ENGLAND'S UNEMPLOYED.

From the Baltimore Sun.

IF anyone wants to know what unemployment means in Great Britain, he may read with interest the brief dispatch from Manchester, England, which tells how 3000 men appeared at a factory which had advertised for six handy men. This does not look as if the manliness of the British workman had been altogether destroyed by "the deluge." But a strange attitude is nevertheless manifest. The men stormed the factory when they learned that the jobs had been filled the night before, and to pacify them the management took on three more handy men. Three jobs to keep 3000 men quiet! The success of this bit of tactics is noteworthy for its pathos.

THE SHIPPING BOARD AGAIN.

From the New York World.

THE Shipping Board continues to give evidence of its lack of parsimony. It now wants to build 24,500-ton liners to round out its passenger fleet. This probably cost the Treasury something like $120,000,000 to begin with, to say nothing of later losses from operation. It has also just taken over the vessels of a private line that was losing $10,000 on every voyage and will endeavor to continue this unprofitable business at the taxpayers' expense. All of which strengthens the case for a divorce of the Shipping Board from the building and operation of ships.

By RICHARD L. STOKES.

S O accomplished a go-getter is Thomas Bates, according to his raucous brag, that if he were broke in the desert he could sell sand to the Arabs. But he prefers "salt" to "silt," and bristles with the most cantankerous disposition in seven states. These flaws are regarded with amiable scorn by his college-bred son, who has the conviction that he has handicapped the old gentleman in his business as a broom manufacturer.

The helping hand and generous heart, the happy smile and courteous tongue—these would have doubled the value of business, remarks young Mr. Bates, in his paragon of a superior way. "Then try it yourself!" shouts the rowdy old terror, and proceeds to turn over the firm and household for a year to his son's management.

Ideals Shattered.

Young Thomas proceeds to apply the Golden Rule to business. He extends a note for $100,000 to a contractor, who repays him by gouging him on a construction job and leaving it half finished for another—whereby the idealist nearly comes to his death of grip. He coddles the workmen with shorter hours, higher wages, and art windows in the factories. They grumble and complain, and threaten to strike. He indulges his sister in the matter of clothes and she runs up deadly bills at the stores.

By the end of the year, the son, in comparison to his father, is a savage fiend to a sweet-tempered scamp. Besides, the business turnover is pointedly less than it was under the elder man's drastic hand. The conclusion, with the latter resuming control, but keeping his chastened son as a partner, is a lesson against sentimentality.

Craven Heads Cast.

But the son has a triumph also. On the impulse of the heart, he engages as housekeeper a needy young girl whom her father was about to eject with his usual pre-emptory toward beggars. She proves the home's ray of sunshine, softens the heart of the old barbarian, and finally marries the Junior Thomas, thereby saving him from a greedy and idle society girl. There are other characters concerned—such as George Morrow, a talkative oil salesman from Texas, and the Rev. Philip Dow, who, with meretricious intent, preys on young Tom in the name of charity.

Outside of its entertaining story, this play, "New Brooms," which opened a week's visit last night at the American Theater, has many signal merits. The author, Frank Craven, has achieved a work as American as baseball. It is emotional without being sentimental, and it is wise without bitterness. It may be said with literal truth that not a line in it is unintelligent or commonplace; on the other hand, nearly every speech has vitality and wit. The play was contrived by a workman who has every device of the theater in the hollow of his hand. The opening audience was kept in incessant laughter, and summoned the actors for several curtain calls.

Mr. Craven, appearing himself in the role of the son and acting it with his well-known charm and finesse, tasted the double reward of author and interpreter. In a little talk at the end of the second act, he made a plea for public support of wholesome and thoughtful plays. Conspicuous in an excellent cast is Robert McWade as the elder Bates.

Maria Shamsion and Thomas Conkey Star in "Rose-Marie."

"ROSE-MARIE" is a "musical play," as the producers call it, in a thousand. One can see and enjoy it twice. If Rudolph Friml's melodies are just as saccharine and obvious as they were before, the modern harmonizations of Herbert Stothart take on a new interest in the rehearsing. The score of a Broadway music show attains to the dignity of art. Not great art, perhaps, but an authentic American voice in lighter music; and a voice which, in its timbre, delights.

The story of the melodrama which serves as setting for Stothart's music need not retelling. Villany is thwarted. Innocence and beauty are recompensed with just such a kiss as closes a movie. But the voices of Maria Shamsion and Thomas Conkey are not stilled on the silver screen.

Conkey, a favorite baritone of the Municipal Opera, returns to St. Louis as Jim Kenyon in this production, which except for him and James Moore as Edwin Hawley, is exactly the same as when seen at the Shubert-Jefferson. Both are big improvements. Betty Byron is just as piquant as Lady Jane, and Sibylla Bowhana again astounds with the rhythmic response of a symphonist's muscles to her dancing will. Charley Syber is just as convincing as "Hardboiled" Herman.

Miss Juliet Carpenter and Miss Hobitzelle, who departed yesterday for the East, also were to have been guests.

their home in Dallas, Tex., are visiting Mrs. Harry L. Block of Wydown boulevard. Mr. and Mrs. Block will sail Jan. 22 for Europe, where they will join their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Scott, who are in Italy. Miss Mrs. McDonald's parents, Mr. and Mrs. David Walker of 14 Wydown Terrace, depart this week for an extended visit in Pasadena, Cal.

Radio Orchestra, late of Station WGN at Drake Hotel, Chicago. It is a good band, as such bands go. The act is elaborated with a young woman who sings and a pair of pseudo bellboys who dance. The show opens with the Three Lardens, a girl and two men performing on the bouncing rug, a performance known in the vaudeville vernacular as "trampoline." The closing number is that of Olga Myra and a company of dancers, including Betsy Rees, a prettily staged production of no startling terpsichorean developments.

The acts in between consists of a display of versatility by Koo, Taki and Toki in singing, dancing, piano and ukulele numbers and foot juggling. William Sully and Genevieve Houghton in a new offering, featuring Sully's agile hoofing and sprightly wise cracks; Artie Mehlinger and Sam Williams in songs; Steve Freda and Johnny Palace in tiresome Italian dialect.

New Films

F OR a while, "Bluebeard's Seven Wives" pokes fun at the movie, then it pokes fun at the dear old movie public, and, as if frightened at such high crimes and misdemeanors, it settles down to a second, rithodox ending. The tale is told that one John Hart, a stuttering, goggle-eyed bank clerk (ably played by Ben Lyon) loses his job. Heartbroken because now he cannot marry little Mary Kelly (Miss Lois Wilson), he drifts to a movie studio hoping to find work as an extra. There the great Du Val (a palpable take-off on Cecil B. de Mille) sees him and to bolster his boast that he can make a movie star of anything resembling a man, he chooses John and his friend for the occasion. Enter the demon publicity man, who changes John Hart into Don Juan Hartz, heralds a fake arrival from Spain, and lets it be known that Don Juan Hartz is a shik. The public accents the shik, and scenes are set of men having their hair and mustache trimmed just like Don Juan's. His photograph is shown as the object of adoration by girls, matrons and old maids. Next, the press agent announces Don Juan's marriage to six different women, one after the other, with a short interval for the formalities of a divorce, between each two cases. Don Juan stars in "Purple Passion" (adapted from a wishy-washy highbrow play without any kick named "Romeo and Juliet") and the balcony scene is played out in the dawn.

Later, Juliet awakens on the bed to find that Romeo, thinking her dead, has poisoned himself, so she doth quietus make with a bare bodkin. But right here the makers of "Bluebeard's Seven Wives" felt they had gone far enough. John Hart was a first-class man, the same good-hearted chap, unspooled by fame or sudden riches. When he finds that the movies are coming between him and little Mary Kelly, he quits and goes to live with her in a house by the side of the road, where he is a first-class man, will be a friend to man. Thus, the picture kills the dear old public to the final fade-out, but in a more subtle way than at first. Nevertheless, it is all good fun and the best satire on the movies and us ever screened. Shown at Grand Central, West End Lyric and Capitol.

Rise of the Delmonte.

T HE Delmonte, long off the beaten track of first run picture houses, has come to life under a new management and is putting on some bang-up programs, of particular interest to children. The management has announced a policy of motion pictures and vaudeville suited to the patrons of a neighborhood theater. This week's vaudeville bill of five acts is very entertaining and the picture, "The Golden Strain," is a clean, ingenious "Western." Kenneth Harlan, who is the leading role, at first appears to be a scare-cat. While his men of the Tenth Cavalry are out shooting Indians with fine clan, Kenneth covers beside a tree. But wait—Kenneth is a man after all. The devilish Anches go on the war-path and threaten to scalp Kenneth's girl. He won't stand for it. Courage comes back to him and he slays Indian after Indian with

If You Have Tears—

"HIS PEOPLE" is a moving picture. In fact, a very moving picture. In the present age would say, it hits you right smack in the ear ducts. It has everything—a poor old Jewish father, two Jewish boys and a Jewish mamma; an Irish father, a sweet little Irish girl and an Irish mamma; a swartstern and a prize fight, etc. It is the "Able's Irish Rose" of the screen and then some. The poor old Jewish father pawns his overcoat to buy his son, Maurice, a dress suit, and that Maurice throws Maurice the dress suit which he threw in a garbage can, and Maurice won't go to see him. But the other brother, Sammy, a wild lad but real good at heart, who has been thrown out by his old man, returns home and takes Maurice's place. Another Jewish boy named redeemed somewhat by gutter playing, and Franklyn Ardell in a jointed series of laughs entitled "The Man From Miami."

"The Miracle" Begins Final Week Tonight at Coliseum.

T HE final week of "The Miracle" at the Coliseum will begin this evening with Lady Diana Manners in the role of the Madonna and Iris Tree as the Nun, piano and ukulele numbers and foot juggling. William Sully and Genevieve Houghton in a new offering, featuring Sully's agile hoofing and sprightly wise cracks; Artie Mehlinger and Sam Williams in songs; Steve Freda and Johnny Palace in tiresome Italian dialect.

Jacob did the same thing centuries ago. Well, the poor old Jewish father partly recovers. Yet he will not live six months, the doctor says, unless he has $1000 so he can go to Florida and get back his health. So Sammy fights the welterweight champ and after a hard battle wins $1000. Maurice returns home and is forgiven. Will those who see this picture at the Rivoli and Kings this week need handkerchiefs? Oh, oh.

Just Laugh It Off.

"H ANDS UP," at the Missouri, is a far-fetched and unnatural comedy, but it can be laughed off. Raymond Griffith uses all methods, including shock-theaters, strong arm work and bigamy to take laughs from his audience, but we submitted with entire good nature. Indeed, there are times when you feel you could laugh without half trying. For instance, when Griffith, a Confederate spy sent to Nevada to help Gen. Lee win the Civil War by wrecking a Union gold mine, makes love to two sweet little Yankee girls. Or—well, there are other times. The picture falters for a minute or two last when it is discarded playmate tries to punish him by intriguing the rouse's weak, innocent brother, the naughty man will come to the rescue.

Sherman on Love.

"LOVE," says Lowell Sherman in "Satan in Sables," at the St. Louis this week, "love is a large, florid gentleman three seats off the aisle in the eighteenth row, at the opening performance. But Sherman didn't say it. He said something about love being the noblest influence in the life of a bad man. When a bad, bad man like the hero of "Satan in Sables" is fettered by love, he'll take a walk from the streets and teach her geometry. He'll do more than that. He'll teach her advanced algebra. Then, when she's a lady, he'll marry her. And when a rouse's discarded playmate tries to punish him by intriguing the rouse's weak, innocent brother, the naughty man will come to the rescue.

cue, using all his knowledge of the world to defeat the evil woman's plot. That is the way a rake behaves when he really loves. We would not attempt to decide between Sherman on love and the fat man in the eighteenth row, but merely say that love as portrayed in "Satan in Sables" is very, very dull.

It Can't Be Done.

L EW CODY is a peach of a philanderer, but he tries the impossible in "Time the Comedian" at Loew's State, this week.

He has an affair with a little girl's mother, and when the little girl grows up he tries to have an affair with her. But do you think Mae Busch, as the little girl's mother, will stand for that? She knows Lew too well. Just at the crucial moment she tells all. The daughter, disillusioned, says: "I hate you both." And Lew says to Mae: "You've lost her." And Mae says to Lew: "So have you." And they give each other the dirtiest look. But all ends happily, leaving Lew to go through life alone, darn him.

SAYS U. S. IS SOLVING OWN RUBBER PROBLEM

Secretary Hoover Tells House Committee of New $10,000,000 Concern of Tire Men

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18.—The American people, responding to a national necessity, are well on the way toward solving the rubber problem without Government aid, Secretary Hoover told the House Commerce Committee today.

The committee is investigating the effects of the British rubber monopoly, and Hoover declared action such as that taken by the newly formed American Motor Rubber Co., which contemplates definite projects in Ceylon, Dutch East Indies and the Philippines would bring the necessary relief.

$10,000,000 Organization. The American Motor Rubber Co., Mr. Hoover said, would be at $10,000,000 organization which also would stimulate production by the utilization of wild rubber trees. He also told of a $50,000,000 organization proposed by tire manufacturers, but gave the committee no information on the details of the proposal.

Under questioning by Representative Newton (Rep.), Minnesota, the Secretary testified the administration had advised against direct loans by American banking houses to those interested in the British rubber monopoly and the Brazilian coffee industry.

Other Loans Made. Financial strengthening by American capital would increase power of monopolies to operate against American consumers, he said, adding that he believed American bankers would be glad to avoid any possible criticism in this connection.

Hoover made clear the administration had no authority to interfere with such loans and had only advised against them. Meanwhile he said loans to other British and Brazilian interests had been made.

To oppose loans to all interests in these countries because of the monopolies would be in the nature of a reprisal which is not considered advisable, he added.

Even upon international good will must be considered along with the economic pressure upon American consumers in attempts to break foreign price controls, Hoover said, adding that independent production would achieve the end.

Emergency Control. Asked if he had any specific suggestions for the removal of investment held to have discouraged investments in the Philippines, the secretary said that he would not recommend that the American Government exert official pressure to repeal them.

"The Philippine situation will solve itself automatically," he said. "Prospective investors will present the island Government definite conditions and the islanders will either accept them or not."

"If other countries respond more favorably, investors will undoubtedly go to them."

Definite proposals advanced by the Secretary included authorization for Federal conservation control in emergencies, and provisions for common buying in many commodities now under foreign domination.

By Associated Press. NEW YORK, Jan. 18.—Crude rubber prices dropped 5 cents today. Spot smoked ribbed sheets were offered at 74 1/2 cents against 82 1/2 cents at the close on Saturday.

The break is attributed to the increase of stocks in London and New York and to a complete absence of factory interest. The rubber investigation in Washington is another depressing factor and traders look for lower levels.

HER COUGH KEPT GETTING WORSE

So weak she couldn't walk. Tried Milk's Emulsion. Well in 3 months.

"Something over a year ago I had the flu, which left me with a very bad cough, which kept getting worse all the time. If I attempted to lie down at night, I would cough all night and choke up so I would have to sit up in bed. This continued until I got so weak I could not walk across the floor, and every night I thought would be my last. I became so thin that my hands would meet around my legs. My doctor said that my lungs were affected, and I was in a desperate condition."

CRUICKSHANK FALTERS AT LAST HOLE, SMITH WINS TEXAS OPEN

Three Putts on Final Green Cost Loser the Title

Victor in Golf Feature Was Two Strokes Behind at Seventeenth Hole.

BILL MEHLHORN REBUKED

Loud Comments of Professional Preceded Cruickshank's Two Misses.

By the Associated Press.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Jan. 18.—Bobby Cruickshank, diminutive Chicago professional, says that the loud comments of "Wild Bill" Mehlhorn, also a Chicago professional, did not cause his defeat in the Texas Open Tournament yesterday, but he admitted that he was greatly disturbed.

MacDonald Smith, one behind Cruickshank as they started the final hole, forged ahead on the home green when the little professional, missed three putts and lost his grasp on the championship and the $1500 first share of the $8000 prize money.

Finishing with 233, one stroke behind the "Whispering Scot," Cruickshank took the $300 prize. Jack Burke, with a score of 232, divided $1200 with Harry Cooper of Dallas and Abe Espinosa of San Francisco.

Mehlhorn Is Sorry.

Bill Mehlhorn is sorry he yelled while Bobby Cruickshank was putting on the last green trying to win the championship yesterday.

Mehlhorn, who is professional at the West Moreland Club, Chicago, met Cruickshank late last night and mumbled apologetic words. Cruickshank gave him a quick glance and then, frowning, refused to look at him again or speak to him. Mehlhorn, after a moment, shrugged and turned away.

"Sure, I'm sorry," yelled said Bill, "but I don't think it's as serious as it's being made to seem. Bobby wasn't in the act of putting when I shouted at him."

L. B. Clegg, president of the San Antonio Golf Association, in charge of the tournament, was standing near Mehlhorn when he yelled to the players from a vantage point in a tree crotch. Mr. Clegg, after the tournament, sought out Mehlhorn and censured him. He said he held the pro, formerly a great gallery favorite here, that the golf association did not care whether he ever came back to San Antonio, Tournament Manager Jack O'Brien, when asked for his opinion by Mr. Clegg said "That goes for me, too."

After Mehlhorn's first about Sunday, W. H. Purdon, head of the gallery police, stopped the match and called through his megaphone, "Quiet, please."

Mehlhorn shouted back: "What do you know about machinery?" Many laughed, but there were also shouts of "throw that guy out."

Seeking further financial rewards, several scores of the professionals were entered in the best ball contests today at local country clubs.

The first contest today was at the Alamo Country Club, where three awards totaling $375 were offered. The San Antonio Country Club offered $500 in seven prizes to low scorers in its post-luncheon best ball event.

Several golfers departed last night for Dallas, where a $3000 open tournament will be held, beginning Friday.

Yesterday's defeat was a hard blow to the former Oklahoma City star, who had a grasp on the national open championship at Inwood, N. Y., in 1923, only to lose to Bobby Jones of Atlanta. Cruickshank had a two stroke margin over Smith when they teed off on the seventeenth and had been going in fine style all through the nine of the final round. He had one three and six fours on that nine up to the seventeenth, when he fell down and lost by a stroke to the Great Neck professional.

Smith Makes Super Shot.

In annexing the Texas open title, which he lost last year to Joe Turnesa of Elmford, N. Y., by the same margin as that by which he won yesterday, Smith made what he characterized as the greatest golf shot he ever achieved. This was on the 560-yard sixteenth hole of the first round. Smith had driven about 260 yards down the fairway, slightly to the left, a few feet from a tree. It was 100 yards to the elevated green across a stream and traps. He sent the ball up with a back-spin stroke intended to drop it dead, and it landed on the green, rolled a few inches and stopped four feet from the cup. He holed out for a birdie three.

The winner, as well as the 50 other players, had some difficulty with the Brackenridge municipal links, due to the heavy rain of yesterday, despite today's warm sun and none averaged par for the 36 holes.

While the soft green made iron and maulie shots easier, the sand greens were deceptive and in some fairways on the in nine the ground was muddy.

MY 30 YEARS IN FOOTBALL

By Fielding H. Yost

ROOM time to time in the run of these moments, I have told a few stories at my own expense, and pleaded guilty even to the exaggerated anecdotes which revolved about my love for the game. Football writers have been writing them for years, and I suppose they are amusing. Indeed, I enjoy most of them myself.

Grantland Rice tells one which convicts me of gross negligence. We were out for a buggy ride in our home town in Tennessee once and were riding along a road on the very edge of a river. He is a football "bug" after my own heart and, naturally, we talked football. I did the driving and to illustrate my points I held the reins with one hand and used the other for a pointer. As I talked I kept looking ahead, not noticing the curves in the road or paying much attention to the speed at which the horse was traveling.

After a while I looked up and found that Grant was no longer in the buggy. It seems I was so engrossed in the talk that I didn't notice him fall out of the buggy into the river. To this day he swears I rode miles before I became aware of his absence.

About Frank Cavanaugh.

And now, having prodded myself, I want to tell a story about Frank Cavanaugh, former Dartmouth coach and now at Boston College. Frank is the man I tried to get for my old college, West Virginia. He was unable to take the job and so I recommended "Doc" Spears, a former Dartmouth player under Frank, and "Doc" Spears has indeed done well.

Whenever Frank and I get together, I always ask him for the football news at Yale. There's a reason. Frank isn't particularly fond of Yale, and so when I turn my mind toward New Haven, he says, "Don't say 'Yale' like that. Say it like a bulldog." Then thrusts out his jaw and growls savagely. This generally starts him off on a story of the memorable victory which Boston College won over Yale about five years ago.

When he arrived at the Bowl, Frank noticed there were some new stretchers on Boston's side of the field. He went over to Tad Jones and said, "Tad, we won't need those stretchers. They belong to dear old Yale." Frank always speaks of Yale that way—as "dear old Yale," raising and dropping his voice according to the ferocity of his mood.

Boston's center was a fellow named Heaphy. Frank got hold of him and said, "Now you are going to play against Tim Callahan, the Yale captain. He has all the greatness that belongs to dear old Yale. He was born and raised in Connecticut."

For "Dear Old Yale." Then, according to Frank, Heaphy went up against Callahan on the first play of the game and nearly killed him in the collision, whereupon Heaphy turned around and, in Cavanaugh's manner, said: "I have only begun, Mr. Callahan. Take a good look at me. I did what I did for the glory of your dear old Yale."

When Cavanaugh arrived at the Bowl that day, Tad Jones asked him where his team was. Frank told him it hadn't arrived yet and that the train wasn't on time. Tad then exclaimed: "But that can't be possible, Frank."

Cavanaugh answered: "But it is possible, Tad, really. It's even possible that my boys are going to look old Yale today."

Frank said something about the length of the halves, and Tad answered, according to Frank, "No one ever asks a Yale captain how long the halves will be. We determine that."

"But haven't we anything to say?" "Not about that," answered Tad. "All right, whenever a fellow says 'Yale,' we'll have a fight."

Frank loves to imitate Tad, and it's really funny. Of course, he exaggerates, just as I am the victim of many exaggerations, but Frank's antipathy is based upon what he considers to be Yale's attitude toward the small colleges.

A first-rate coach—Frank Cavanaugh, sharp as a steel trap, a wonderful talker, a keen mind, a lawyer, soldier, and capable. He has written an excellent book on football.

Municipal Star Fractures Leg In Practice Tilt

Ray Wawer, Fairmount Full-back, Injured in Collision With Team-Mate.

By the Associated Press.

Ray Wawer, fullback for the Fairmount Democratic Club, leader in the Manchester Park division of the Municipal Soccer League, suffered a fractured leg in a collision with Manager English of the same eleven in a practice session yesterday. The mishap came after the Fairmounts had been awarded a forfeit victory over the Scholastics. The two elevens then lined up for the practice tilt and the injury to Wawer resulted.

Wawer several seasons ago was a member of the Vespers in the St. Louis Soccer League.

After playing two scoreless ties a week ago, the leaders in the Fairground No. 2 circuit, went on a scoring rampage yesterday. The leading Highlands trounced the Ben Millers, 5 to 0, while the Morgans swamped the Harveys, 7 to 0.

As a result, the standings in the group are unchanged.

The Johnsons of Sherman Park were defeated by the White Squadron, 2 to 0, and a goal dropped to a tie with the Wabash Club, which tied the Paulinas, 1 to 1.

The Good Will Club of the Forest Park division lost its first game of the season going down before the Electrical Engineers, 2 to 1. Leaders in the other groups came through with victories.

HUTTIG STOCK SELLS HIGHER ON EXCHANGE

ST. LOUIS STOCK EXCHANGE.
Jan. 18.—Huttig was a leader in price movement at the start of the new week, ranging up substantially at outset. There was a fairly large turnover in Rice-Stock common.

In the afternoon Huttig stock sold at 40, the top of morning trade also. Rice-Stock was down a fraction from top part of day. St. Louis Car preferred was higher. Sheffield Steel was better.

During the morning nearly 700 shares of Rice-Stock common changed hands at 25 to 25 1/2. International Shoe common and Missouri Portland were fractionally lower in limited trade.

Personal and Business Notes

The St. Louis Stock Exchange membership of W. A. Stickney was today transferred to J. A. Denney and that of R. J. Denney to Albert N. Edwards. Both Adams and Edwards are associated with the A. G. Edwards & Sons. Stickney and Denney recently severed connections with the Edwards company. Denney today purchased the membership of Louis J. Nicolais.

George C. Martin Jr., president of the Merchants' Exchange, with W. J. Edwards, William J. Nierbach and Roger J. Annan, are in Washington to attend a conference called by Secretary of Agriculture Jardine. Members of the newly organized Business Conduct Committee of the various grain exchanges with heads of the exchanges will be in attendance. Plans for operation of these committees in any emergency are expected to be discussed.

Officers have been elected by the St. Clair National and the First National Banks of Belleville as follows: St. Clair National, J. H. Reicher, president; Frank Gundlach and W. A. Hottel, vice presidents; Arthur Edman, cashier, and William Schmidt Jr., assistant cashier. First National Bank, G. B. M. Rogers, president; Cyrus Thompson and Adolph Knoche, vice presidents; Phil Gass, cashier, and Ernest W. Gass, assistant cashier.

G. A. Miller has been re-elected president, Paul A. Schaffly cashier, and August Schaffly, secretary, of the Executive Committee, respectively, of the Union Trust Co. of East St. Louis.

STREET CAR FALLS INTO OHIO RIVER, 4 DEAD, 22 HURT

Accident in Pittsburg Suburb Due to Car Leaving Track and Smashing Through Guard.

By the Associated Press.
PITTSBURG, Jan. 18. — Four persons lost their lives at McKees Rocks, a suburb, last night as the result of a street car plunging from a bridge into the Ohio River. Twenty-two persons were injured, several seriously.

Miss Agnes Johnson, 23, and Gilbert J. Scheil, conductor, were drowned. The two others, Mrs. Rebecca McKee, 60, and her granddaughter, Marian Signet, 7, succumbed to injuries at a hospital. All were residents of the Pittsburg district.

The car was pulled from the water by the electric crane of a Pittsburg and Lake Erie wrecking engine. The tracks of the railroad parallel the river at the bridge.

According to an eyewitness, the car, bound for McKees Rocks from Neville Island, in the Ohio, was running at a fast rate as it came into the bridge and left the rails. It first struck a telephone pole, the witness said, and then broke through a guard rail.

Immediately after the trolley had settled to the bottom of the river, he said, there was a smashing of windows, and passengers and crew crawled out into the icy waters.

Harry Curshun, the motorman, who escaped with bruises and lacerations, said the car got beyond control on a grade leading to the bridge and that the slippery rails made the brakes useless. Company officers expressed the belief that "something on the track" caused the car to jump.

SOPHIE TUCKER INDUCES BERLIN TO SING IN LONDON CLUB

His Wife, in Evening Gown, Stands on Table to Help Him "Remember."

By the Associated Press.
LONDON, Jan. 18. — Sophie Tucker, the American Broadway singer, has been able to bring Mr. and Mrs. Irving Berlin out of the seclusion of their hotel room. In the Kit Cat Club, one of London's famous private dance institutions she made Irving sing one of his songs early Sunday morning. And the song was one he wrote when he is said to have been fearful of losing Ethel Mackay—Remember.

As Berlin sang all eyes were focused upon him and his bride, who stood on a table nearby and listened as intently as her husband's other auditors. The bride was radiant in a pink evening gown.

Miss Tucker was giving a farewell function prior to her return to the States. At the club the band was playing the merriest and the couples on the floor were in the mazes of a dance. Few of those present recognized the demure couple who entered and sat together, watching and listening.

Then Miss Tucker said: "I will now ask Irving Berlin to play some of his melodies for us." Immediately all eyes were riveted upon the bride and bridegroom. Irving showed his customary nervousness. Ethel blushed.

Shy and uneasy, Irving made his way to the piano. Instead of playing, however, he broke into "Remember" with all the pathos he knows how to put into his compositions.

Where the Airplane Takes the Place of the Dog

HE frozen North has always been a most intriguing spot to anybody who has the spark of curiosity about strange places. There is something fascinating in the land, shut off by the merciful forces of nature from contact with the rest of the world. It takes all the ingenuity and courage of the modern explorer to make the vast stretches of tightly packed ice that block the way to the Eskimos. But now that the airplane is taking its recognized place in the equipment of the explorer, it is becoming a simpler matter to visit the most remote regions, even though it is still a matter of courage and stress to attempt a trip of that sort. It was a matter of a few years ago that the explorers, in this region, pushed their way laboriously through the waist-deep snow on sledges, yelling at the dogs and beating at the sleds until they were weary and worn out. And at that time they made very little progress. But today they can fly over the snow-capped mountains and look down into the valleys where they are hunting, and they are not so weary and worn out. It is not smooth sailing, of course. There is a great deal of danger attached to the venture. For if something should go wrong with their machines the aviators may be lost for weeks and weeks without any chance of aid. The people of Eskimo Land are not so colorful in their warm co-olids.

(Copyright, 1925.)

Now past 73 years of age, Mary F. S. Toy of Hartford, Conn., has just published her first book, "The People of Eskimo Land," which she has written since she was 11.

Hotter Food.

Before carrying hot liquids to invalids, fill the container with boiling water for a few minutes. Pour out and fill with the nourishment. The food will stay hot much longer than when put into a cold cup or bowl.

Sort Them Out.

The tiny potatoes that always seem to creep into the bag somehow are nice boiled together, then peeled and then fried in deep fat. They are not unlike French fried potatoes and use up all the small potatoes at one time.

A Popular Hostess.

One woman I know who entertains a great deal keeps a file on which is written the tastes and preferences of the people she has for meals most frequently. She also notes the way they prefer coffee and tea and never has to ask when serving them.

Plainer Spreads.

Many housekeepers remove and fold the bedspreads at night to keep them clean longer. However, this is hard on the blankets and they soon become soiled from exposure. Dimity and pique spreads are nice for everyday use, they are so easily laundered and therefore need not be removed at night.

East Lynne's Premiere.

The first American theatrical production of "East Lynne" was reviewed in the New York papers 62 years ago.

The critics disagreed as to the merits of the drama, which had been seen at Niblo's Garden the night before, and none foresaw that it was to become the most popular play of the century. Since then thousands of companies of every grade have played "East Lynne," and it has been staged in every theater and village "op'ry house" in the United States and Canada. It is based upon the novel written by Mrs. Henry Wood.

One of the interesting things about the way the Eskimo women sew is the fact that they use their jaws to such a large extent. It is difficult, of course, to sew on skins

MUFFINS IN MANY GUISES

By HANNAH WING

MUFFINS for breakfast every day in the year would grow monotonous. To keep them varied on even the three or four days a week that they are usually served sometimes seems a task. With even so simple and satisfying a muffin as that made of cornmeal, a few changes in the usual recipe now and then help to keep it in favor.

Date Corn Muffins.

One cup cornmeal, two tablespoons brown sugar, one teaspoon salt, two tablespoons butter, one and a quarter cups milk, one cup flour, four teaspoons baking powder, one egg, half cup chopped dates.

Mix the cornmeal, sugar, salt and melted butter. Scald the milk, pour it over the mixture and let it stand until the meal swells. When cool, add the flour sifted with the baking powder, the well-beaten egg and the dates. Beat thoroughly and bake in greased muffin tins in a hot oven.

CORN MUFFINS WITH JELLY.

Use the recipe for cornmeal muffins. Fill greased muffin tins one-fourth full, put a teaspoon of jelly on the top of the batter in each cup, cover the jelly with more batter and bake in a hot oven 15 or 20 minutes.

FOR LEFT-OVER MUFFINS.

No matter how good the muffins are there are usually a few more made—just to fill the muffin tins perhaps—than are eaten. How to use these cold muffins is a question which is satisfactorily answered in this dish, which is said to have had its origin in France:

Break small stale muffins in two, scoop out the centers and put aside. Butter the inside of the muffins and put them in the oven for a moment to melt the butter.

Make a medium cream sauce with a tablespoon of butter, a tablespoon of flour and two cups of milk and a little salt. When this sauce is cooked, take it off the fire and add hard-cooked eggs chopped fine, a tablespoon of grated cheese and the soft part of the muffins. Cook to a thick paste and fill the muffins with it. Put the two parts of the muffins together and bake them for 15 minutes. Serve hot.

Milk soup.

Chop fine one onion, two stalks of celery and a few sprays of parsley, and a tiny piece of blade of mace and a pint of water. Boil until reduced to one half, strain and add to a quart of hot milk. Add pepper, salt and a teaspoonful of sugar. Thicken gradually with two mashed potatoes, mashed very smooth with a tablespoonful of butter and a tablespoonful of hot cream.

For the Kroger Bakery is a marvel of accuracy and precision.

Guesswork is entirely eliminated from recipes—from dough making—from "rising" time—temperature—and from actual baking.

But we go further back than that! For every housewife knows as well as we that no matter how careful the baking process—fine ingredients are essential to fine bread.

We believe that all this extra care in baking and in selecting ingredients is entirely worth while.

JUDGE RUMMY

The Man on the Sandbox by LLOYD

The Writer Is Right.
HENRY O. LLOYD of the University of Chicago claims that St. Paul's epistles were dictated to a stenographer who took them in shorthand. As the spelling and composition leaves nothing to be desired we take it they were not marked. "Dictated but not read."

Is that so? There is many a dictator who knows far less than his stenographer about spelling, composition, punctuation, etc., and many a "dictated and read" falls short of 100 per cent because the dictator didn't know how to put out good English and wouldn't let some one who does change his garbled speech into something presentable for fear she would value herself too highly and ask for an increased salary. Then, again often a legitimate typographical error (which happens to the best) is not noted by the dictator and reader before he signs on his signature in his rush to get away to a golf game or a session with the cards and bootleggers' product.

Your joke is kind of worn to say the least. Why so bromidic? (Written but not signed.)
